TWO MEN SHOT

They Were Walking Along Tracks Near Bleachery Station

Alex Abraham and Abrin Saidin were shot by unknown parties while walking along the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Bleachery station shortly before six o'clock last night and Abraham, saidin, who was with Abraham and Saidin, only escaped being shot because he fled at the first report of the revolver and disappeared in the darkness. Alex Abraham was shot in the left arm while Saidin was shot in the right arm.

The cause of the shooting is unknown as the identity of the assailants. It is alleged that it came as the result of a feud between the Armenians and Turks.

The three men were returning from their work at the Lowell Rendering Works and walking along the railroad track in the vicinity of the Bleachery station they were set upon by three men who started shooting at them.

John Toye, a janitor in the Wigginsville school, is the only person who seems to know much about the matter. Toye was on his way to supper and was in one of the darkest parts of the railroad yard when he saw the flash of a revolver and almost immediately heard the report. This was followed by three other shots in rapid succession.

Startled he stopped and saw three men rushing down the track in his direction. He was unable to get a view of their faces, but from the words uttered by them took it for granted that they were foreigners. Toye shouted at them, whereupon they turned and ran in the direction of the six-arch bridge.

Toye ran down the tracks to the nearest telephone, and called up Supt. Redmond Welch, and told him what he had witnessed, whereupon the superintendent sent out Sergeants McCleghrey and Duncan and soon afterward Inspector Walsh, to search for the men. Patrolmen in the vicinity were also put on the watch.

It was some time later before the men who had been attacked were located. These turned out to be Alex Abraham of 4 Chapel place, off Chapel street, who was shot in the left arm, and Abrin Saidin of Flynn's block, in Elm street, who was shot in the right arm.

The two wounded men went to Saidin's home in Flynn's block, and it was here that Inspector Walsh located them. After talking through two interpreters, the inspectors got the facts of their story.

The wounded men were taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance where they received treatment, but a report from the hospital brought forth the information that neither man is in a serious condition.

UNION RECOGNITION

Stumbling Block in Way of Settlement in New York Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Union recognition, the rock on which it was apprehended the peace movement in the express strike would split, today appeared to be a stumbling block in the way of even preliminary negotiations between companies and men. Two of the companies still held out against treating with the strikers except as former employees. The men declare that while they do not demand a "closed shop" they must insist upon recognition of their organization. This state of affairs has brought the situation to a renewed deadlock and the outlook for peace, which was so promising yesterday seemed decidedly poor today. Steps to hamper the companies in the use of strikebreakers have been taken by the strike leaders in invoking an old ordinance providing that all express drivers must be licensed. It is declared that none of the men who have succeeded strikers as drivers of the companies' teams have secured licenses.

SUPREME COURT

ORDERS THAT THE CONSERVATOR BE REMOVED

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4.—A decision of the supreme court of Connecticut just handed down affirms the action of the superior court of Hartford county in ordering the removal of the conservator over Mrs. Luinda M. Treat-Goddard, aged about 70, who came prominently into public notice some time ago by her marriage to Charles R. Goddard, a Yale law school student, many years her junior. Subsequent to the marriage Mrs. Goddard's son, Edward A. Treat of this city, secured through the probate court the appointment of a conservator over his mother. She appealed to the superior court and secured the removal of the conservator. The son then appealed to the supreme court.

GREAT FOSS RALLY

PHILIP KIELY

THOMAS RILEY OF MALDEN

HON. EUGENE N. FOSS SPEAKING AT THE DEMOCRATIC RALLY LAST NIGHT

Campaign Issues Ably Discussed—Foss Cheered as Next Governor

Hon. Eugene N. Foss, democratic candidate for governor, came to Lowell and, as he afterward said himself, received the greatest reception that has been accorded him throughout the campaign while several aged residents stated that they had not seen such a demonstration since General Butler's time.

Owing to a mixup of arrangements, through no fault of the local managers, Mr. Foss' experience early in the evening was somewhat unpleasant, but subsequent happenings more than atoned for his previous discomfort. On account of the weather it was expected that Mr. Foss and the other speakers would come to Lowell by train, and Joseph L. Marin, candidate for county commissioner, was at the depot with his auto, as was Thomas J. Johnston to receive the guests. But Mr. Foss and a party of newspapermen came to town in an auto and went direct to the American hotel, while Mr. Cassidy, the candidate for lieutenant governor, went to Lawrence first and came to Lowell later over the road. Mayor Fitzgerald, who was expected, did not put in an appearance, having been assigned to rallies in other cities.

In the early evening the Lowell Cadet band marched through the downtown streets with boys bearing announcements of the rally. As soon as it became known that Mr. Foss was in town the hand retraced its steps to the hotel, while Thomas J. Marin, chairman of the democratic city committee, Gardner W. Pearson, Mr. Foss' local representative, Joseph L. Chaffoux and other prominent democrats were soon on the scene.

Mr. Chaffoux invited Mr. Foss to look in at a French rally at C. M. A. C. hall, at which Charles J. Mariot, democratic candidate, was to speak. Mr. Foss decided to go there first, and a procession was made up with the band and the notes of Messrs. Foss and Marin, and proceeded up Merrimack street to Dutton, where the band turned in to go to Mathew hall, while the auto proceeded to the C. M. A. C. hall, only to find the hall in darkness, as the crowd had not arrived.

All hands immediately went back to Mathew hall, where Mr. Foss found Dutton street packed with a cheering multitude. The rally had been opened upon his arrival and not only was the hall packed almost to suffocation, but several thousands filled the entryways and thronged the street. It was with great difficulty that the late arrivals gained access to the hall. It was then announced to the crowd in the street that Mr. Foss would speak from city hall steps before leaving the city, and the crowd, headed by the band, repaired to the municipal building where there he went to the C. M. A. C. hall, where this time a packed hall greeted him vociferously. He spoke on reciprocity with Canada, to the French voters and then went to Lawrence and spoke and wound up the night in Haverhill, where he addressed a great crowd. "Lowell has given me the greatest reception of the campaign," said Mr. Foss with apparent delight as he shook hands with Humphrey O'Sullivan before departing for Lawrence.

At Mathew Hall

The rally at Mathew hall was arranged by Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan who couldn't secure his own hall, as he had been engaged long before the campaign started by the Street Railway association.

Mr. O'Sullivan called to order at 8 o'clock and in brief and enthusiastic remarks prophetic of a thorough democratic victory introduced as the presiding officer. Hon. John C. Burdett of this city, Mr. Burke's characteristically eloquent manner and his remarks were warmly applauded.

Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was next introduced and he spoke of local conditions in hopeful language. Thomas Nolan of Somerville, representing the political activity committee of the American Federation of Labor, was next introduced and he devoted his attention to Gov. Draper's veto of the eight-hour bill and his excuses for so doing. Mr. Nolan was in the midst of his argument when Mr. Foss entered the hall.

The crowd in the hall took up the cheers of those outside and all were on their feet cheering wildly as the candidate entered. Several minutes elapsed before the applause subsided and then Mr. Foss after thanking the audience, spoke in part as follows: "I am very glad that at last Senator Lodge has regained his voice so as to mention schedule K, the wool and wool goods tariff. He was speechless in the senate on this schedule last year. He has been speechless during this campaign until the question I asked him at Waltham forced him to answer."

"But I find his explanation as unsatisfactory as was his silence. He admits the schedule is wrong. He could do nothing else, but he says he voted for it for fear the senators from the wool growing states would join the democrats. In all probability the wool senators are now telling their constituents that they voted for it because if they hadn't the senators from the worst manufacturing states would have joined the democrats and defeated the bill."

"Senator Lodge tells only half of the story. President Taft told the whole of the story at Winona."

No Protest by Lodge

"Now, Senator Lodge, when did you discover that charging the wool schedule would defeat the bill? You say it was better to save the bill than to lose a number of provisions, the tariff board, above all. But the tariff board was not proposed until the bill was near its final vote, and before that you, Senator Lodge, had stood steady."

THE CITY COUNCIL

To Act on the Shedd Park Matter Tonight

Special meetings of both branches of the city council have been called for tonight. Mayor Meehan called the special meetings for the purpose of taking action on the Shedd park matter.

At the meeting of the aldermen last Tuesday night they voted an appropriation of $10,000 for preliminary work on Shedd park. The councilmen killed the order.

Tonight Alderman Gray will introduce another loan order for $10,000 for the same purpose. It was stated that some of the councilmen voted against the $10,000 loan because of the failure of the park commission to expend for the improvement of the Little

Canada playground the $3000 appropriated for that purpose.

The park commission at a meeting held last night made a statement in explanation of its conduct in the matter. The commissioners said they did not expend the money because of the fact that they were advised that the Locks & Canals intended to make use of the land on which the playground was located, and they allowed it would be a waste of money to expend it there. In view of this explanation it is expected that the common council will reconsider its action and vote the $10,000 loan for Shedd park.

Other meetings scheduled for tonight include the charity and water boards. All these meetings are scheduled for 8 o'clock.

SUPERIOR COURT

Decides for the Shoe Machinery Co.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Judge Hardy in the superior court today decided in favor of the United Shoe Machinery Co. in its suit against Euclid L. Lachapelle of Beverly. The defendant, who is an inventor of shoe machinery, made a contract to remain in the employ of the company for a period of ten years from 1906, and to transfer to the company all of his inventions and the patents he might receive upon them.

About a year ago he invented a machine for pulling the upper over the last and obtained a patent for the improvement. This invention he refused to assign to the company unless he was paid the sum of $50,000. The company thereupon brought a bill in equity to compel Lachapelle to specifically perform his contract.

The case will be carried to the courts of last resort upon the question whether the United Shoe Machinery company is maintaining a monopoly in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

THE PARK BOARD

Explains Hitch on Little Canada Park

The park commission met last night and made a statement as to why the commission had not spent on the Little Canada playground the $3000 appropriated for that purpose.

The commission explained that just after the money had been appropriated and as Supt. Whittier was about to start work on the improvement of the grounds the commissioners learned that the Locks & Canals had planned to make use of the land for their own purposes and in view of this fact the commission did not deem it advisable to spend the money there. It is understood that the commissioners know what the Locks & Canals intend to do with the grounds but are not at liberty to say at this time.

Believing that it was their duty to make some explanation to the public as to their failure to spend the money for the purpose for which it was appropriated, the commissioners gave out the following statement:

"That the commissioners were informed about two months ago by the owners of the land known as the Little Canada playground, there was in contemplation such disposition as would make it impossible for the city to continue its occupancy.

"With this information the commission has not felt justified in making further expenditures on the property."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Robert H. Davis, the author of "The Family," the Shuberts' latest dramatic success, which, after its engagement at the Globe theatre, Boston, will be seen in this city shortly, is the editor of Munsey's magazine. "The Family" is his first play. It was originally produced in Chicago a year ago by Henry Miller. Mr. Miller at that time was unable to obtain bookings for the piece on account of the fact that he was an "Independent." The Shuberts secured the rights and recently brought out the piece at the Comedy theatre, New York. It is the original cost headed by John Westley which comes to this city.

CHRISTIAN HANSEN

Climatic considerations are paramount in connection with grand opera productions. For this reason, as Christian Hansen, the famous tenor who will be seen here on November 15th at the Opera House with the New Opera company, has a hard and fast contract for fifty payments, sing or no sing, Joseph Carl Brill has insured himself with the Lloyds against possible loss because of climatic conditions.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"

On Saturday, Nov. 5, matinee and night at the Opera House, theatre goers of this city will have an opportunity to see the dramatization of Henry E. Dixey's popular novel, "The Man on the Box" which was made for Henry E. Dixey by Grace Livingston Furness.

The company is headed by Mr. John Meehan, and his supporting company plays the comedy with just the right proportion of exaggeration and elegance to make an evening of delicious and entertaining foibles. Under their touch it seems the most natural thing in the world for a perfectly sane young gentleman to attempt a practical joke by playing coachman, and to bring up to the police court because he had mounted to the wrong box; and quite the natural consequence for the young lady, to the box of whose carriage he had mounted, to pay his fine and to hire him for the coachman he appears, that she may find out at her leisure who he is. So they beguile us step by step into believing in their escapades, and all because they play it naturally and vivaciously and even

HARD WORK

When Your Nerves Give Way, Dr. Greene's Nervura Builds Them Up and Makes Honest Strength

The woman who does her own work and takes care of children has need of all her strength. All around us there are examples of what overwork will do. It overtaxes the nerves too, and then trouble begins.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the great strengthener for overworked women. It gives them strength from their food and strength from perfect rest at night. It regulates the nerves and builds up in every way.

Mrs. John H. Laux, 48 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J., writes:

"When I began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I was terribly run down. My baby had been very sick and I was nursing him day and night. I got so worried I couldn't eat nor sleep."

When I tried to eat my heart seemed to come up in a lump in my throat and choke me, and I would leave everything untasted. Any little noise would make me jump and start at my color and got so thin I thought I would break down myself. That was when I decided to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and I am thankful to say it helped me wonderfully. It enabled me to bear the terrible strain of my baby's sickness and kept me from breaking down in spite of all I had to stand. My appetite and color returned and I began to gain flesh. I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all women run down through overwork, sickness, or any cause, and I give this letter in the hope that other mothers who are worrying over their sick children and trying to do their work, may know how to keep up the health under such trying circumstances.

You love your home and your children, and you want to do the work, but when you over-do, your nerves begin to cry out against outrage. You must have help, and you'll find it in Dr. Greene's Nervura which is known everywhere, and which is everywhere working wonders for women. Remember you can consult Dr. Greene personally, or by mail, at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

JUDGE PARKER

Says Cancer of Rooseveltism Should be Cut Out

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov. 4.—"Let us cut out the cancer of Rooseveltism," said former Judge Alton B. Parker, in a reply made here last night to what he called the "astounding" address of Senator Elihu Root, delivered last week at Carnegie hall, New York city.

"We learn that in this election," he continued, "thousands upon thousands of republicans and independents intend to vote a democratic ticket. We welcome their assistance and thank them to their appreciation that in this election there is a greater issue than the governorship of New York at stake. Let us cut out the cancer of Rooseveltism and—Mr. Root to the contrary notwithstanding—that once disposed of, our citizens can determine who shall be their president and his citizens of each state who will be their governor without fear of the threat that the strong hand will take possession of our government if we do not in this state accept the nominee.

"That was a most astounding address which Mr. Root delivered. Dare not revolt, or worse shall befall you; accept your chains, or feel the lash; cringe, or be crushed; assert your right to name your executives and that right shall be definitely taken from you—that in all fairness in the sense of his speech so far as it relates to the issues of Rooseveltism which confronts us. But who is the special pleader who speaks and who is the client whose cause he advances, a master of suggestion, an adept at insinuation, an adroit intellect, a clever politician. Such is the special pleader and his client we know better than before.

And when we consider the past relations between them, the hollowiness and lack of sincerity in the suggestion that Mr. Taft's recommendation by the republicans in 1912 is in any wise involved in a rejection of Mr. Roosevelt in the state of New York today, is clear.

"The argument is the customary one of a lawyer when he assures the jury that, if they find against his client, they will incidentally imperil their own interests in some other direction—when, for example, he bids them regard their oaths as jurors and not convict his client, just as Mr. Root urges his republican associates to disregard their duty as citizens, least something which he conveniently imagines as an evil shall befall the community at large. In other words, Mr. Root poses as the supporter of Mr. Taft but is in fact the secret advocate of Mr. Roosevelt. Nor is this the first time when Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes trembled in the balance that Mr. Root the machiavelli of many a situation, has arisen to his aid. It is well to consider the source of an inspiration before we trust to its sincerity, and in the light of that which has preceded can be best estimated the inspiration underlying that which is presented.

"As we all know, Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes were once subjected to a great danger. Absolute extinguishment for all time in the political field confronted him. He had sworn an oath to avoid the payment of his personal taxes, and disqualified himself for the payment of his personal taxes and disqualified himself for the office of governor of the state. He had sworn that he was not a resident of this state, that he had become a resident of the District of Columbia, the city of Washington. As a matter of fact, having obtained through the personal efforts of his one-time friend William Storer the office of assistant secretary of the navy, he was temporarily an inhabitant of that city. That an office-holder in Washington gains no residence there but remains a resident and voter in his home, is common knowledge. From the president down, the incumbents of federal offices retired from Washington to their homes to vote, and yet he (Roosevelt) had sworn that he had lost his residence in Oyster Bay and gained a residence in Washington and if he was non-resident in this state he could not be its governor.

"At that moment his political future was at stake; indeed the man himself bestrode the narrow edge of danger. He must be held to be a citizen of the state of New York or he could not become its governor. He could not be claimed to be a resident of the state of New York or his oath was false and the penalties of perjury before him. He called upon the subtle mind of Mr. Root to find the tortuous path that would turn and twist between these contradictions.

"The devious path was found for him. His affidavit had not included the word 'domicile' and so the republican convention acceded to the proposition that a non-resident of the state was domiciled therein and was a citizen thereof while at the same time a permanent resident in Washington as well as temporary inhabitant there. Mr. Root's reward came later, and as secretary of state of the United States, he counseled and advised and so far as might be calmed and controlled his client. And should Mr. Roosevelt, through the special pleading of Mr. Root he once more saved by adroit suggestion and artful adaptation of the facts, who can doubt that Mr. Root will be at least persona grata to the twice saved Roosevelt?

"But let not any adherent of Mr. Taft delude himself with the belief that a vote for Mr. Stimson is a vote for Mr. Taft's renomination; it is a vote for Root and Roosevelt pure and simple. Nothing can impair Mr. Taft's personal prestige in his own party so greatly as a vote for the personal nominee of this private doctiner. And who is this personal nominee of our Warwick, the new king-makers, who but the close associate, the partner, the locum tenens of the senior counsel for the defense and that same senior counsel for this defendant now at the bar of the people of the state, this same junior senator of ours, Mr. Root, gravely assures us that his junior associate, if only we will elect him governor, will dominate not alone his senior, the artful advocate himself, but even their joint client who lurks in the rear of their ambition.

"Mr. Root says that to defeat Mr. Roosevelt is to injure Mr. Taft's administration. Can any sane man believe that to endorse Mr. Roosevelt is to further Mr. Taft's interests? If the republican convention at Saratoga in its platform had sought to give Mr. Root an excuse for his argument, we have Mr. Roosevelt's own words that he would have opposed. Mr. Root also argues in his speech that it was because Mr. Roosevelt was right that he dominated the republican convention. He says the issue was a revolt against the tyranny of party machines, and he points out that Mr. Roosevelt holds no office and had no patronage to bestow; whence he argues republicans should be grateful to him for his election.

"But Mr. Root forgets that every delegate at Saratoga fully appreciated that, if whenever Mr. Roosevelt might produce as the candidate were elected, Mr. Roosevelt would have patronage and, as Mr. Root puts it, the power to punish or reward. Mr. Root further fails to appreciate that if the Saratoga convention were in revolt against the corrupt republican machine, so is the present revolt of the republican voters a revolt against the Roosevelt machine. Adopt Mr. Root's arguments and it is apparent that the republican voters' duty is but half done.

"Also, Mr. Root minimizes Mr. Roosevelt's continual denunciation of judges and courts with glittering generalities, and with generalities still more glittering, smooths over Mr. Roosevelt's new nationalism. Of the latter, he says he knows not wherein it consists. Let him read the debate that preceded the adoption of the constitution and inform himself. Not one of the doctrines fatal to the continued existence of liberty in this country, which Mr. Roosevelt has tricked forth in now phrase, will he fail to find there. And let him reflect that it is but those judges and only those courts that stand between us and the enforcement of those doctrines which would destroy us and which can be summarized as the extension of the personal power of the chief executive—which God forbid his client may ever again be."

$15

You ask how we can do this just at the beginning of the Overcoat season—It does sound unreasonable—but this is how it happened—the fabrics were bought from one of the world's best mills, underprice and tailored for us during the in-between seasons—The Merrimack is always quoted as selling the best $15 Overcoat in New England. This year we found it impossible for any of our wholesalers to produce an all wool kersey coat up to the Merrimack standard at less than $20. Therefore we went out on our own hook with the money in our jeans, to buy for cash, enough goods to make 500 overcoats—We succeeded in getting only enough goods for 259 coats—and here they are for you today at $15.00.

We ask you to compare these coats with any or all overcoats shown in Lowell at $20, if they don't appear to be just as good for $5 less, we have no argument.

FOSS RALLY

fast, not only in the finance committee, but in the senate, for all the iniquities of schedule K.

"You say, Senator Lodge, that this schedule K was not what it should have been, but I do not find that at any time you raised your voice in protest at the provisions you know to be unjust, and which imposed a hardship upon the great mass of the people.

"Why didn't you, with your convincing oratory that you can so readily use in denouncing a political opponent, raise your voice in indignant protest against these schedules that President Taft says are 'indefensible'?"

"What kept you silent?"

Explanation a Miserable Failure

"The public doesn't forget, Senator

Lodge, that the worsted trust, which is largely a Massachusetts affair, profited tremendously by your votes on the schedules and that the heads of that trust are among your staunchest supporters today.

"And so Senator Lodge is reduced to the pitiable explanation that he voted to keep the wool tariff outrage on $0.000,000 people for fear he would not get a commerce court and a worthless maximum and minimum provision and a tariff board that hasn't any sanction in law.

"Your constituents will not be satisfied with that explanation, Senator Lodge. They will accept it as proof of the bargain between republican stand-patters, and moreover, they will rightfully accept your explanation as strong evidence that you were a party to that nefarious political bargain.

"Senator Lodge has failed miserably to explain his vote for schedule K. He has not even tried to explain his silence on that question in the senate.

Senator Lodge says he 'thought the woolen schedule should be modified and improved.' But the damning fact in Senator Lodge's case is that he kept silence in the senate when the bill was under consideration.

Protection Costs $51,000,000

"Have the senators from the wool-growing states gained such control over senators from a state represented by a Webster and a Sumner that they not only forced Senator Lodge to vote against his convictions but actually cowed him into silence? Will Massachusetts submit to such shameful misrepresentation?"

"Senator Lodge dodges my request for information regarding the details of Schedule K and tries to escape by quoting an editorial by Ex-Gov. Guild, who is another victim of the wool-silence disease.

"One word more on schedule K. As is usual just before election, Senator Lodge is shedding real crocodile tears for fear the working man will not be protected by a republican tariff. He says the woolen and worsted mills of Massachusetts turn out $102,833,803 worth of goods a year, and that the wages paid in these mills is $18,817,197. Let us do a little figuring.

"A few nights ago the president of the American Woolen company publicly stated that the $48,000,000 worth of woolen and worsted goods made by his company could be bought abroad for half that amount, that is, for about $24,000,000. On that basis, the $102,000,000 worth of goods mentioned by Senator Lodge could be bought abroad for $51,000,000.

"In other words, the American people are paying a tax of $51,000,000 a year in order, by Senator Lodge's admission, to protect workmen who receive $18,000,000 a year in wages. Was there ever a more complete exposure of the pretenses that the republican wool and wool goods tariff is primarily for protection to the workmen? It is primarily for the protection of the worsted trust.

"Senator Lodge and the worsted manufacturers stood shoulder to shoulder just prior to making the woolen schedule without change. It is fitting that on the eve of this election they should admit the truth, it is for you voters to say on Tuesday next whether this alliance of the special interests and the senators of Massachusetts shall continue."

To Reduce Cost of Living

Mr. Foss said he was building cotton mill; he believed in the cotton business and that it did not need so much protection. With a reduction in the tariff they could command the markets of the world, the high cost of living would be reduced, the purchasing power of the dollar would be increased. The wages of the cotton industry are too low and with a lower tariff we can increase our output and increase our wages by controlling foreign markets.

"Republicans Are Beaten"

"The high cost of living is due to the high tariff. They can't dodge facts. They may squirm and explain and defend, and they are doing all three, or trying to, but they make no headway for the store bills of the people tell the story.

"The tariff was revised by its friends, but, unfortunately for the people, by its too intimate friends."

"The wives and mothers who do the buying for the family are receiving daily lessons that no revision downward has been made. The women of Massachusetts and of the whole country today realize that the burdens of living, instead of having been lightened, have been made more heavy."

"The republican leaders know that they are defeated. They are trying by misrepresentation, by playing cunningly on the prejudices of the people and by false and misleading conclusions not in any way justified by facts to keep down the democratic majority. But they will fail. Massachusetts will repudiate them and the Payne-

Aldrich act by so decisive a majority Kiely of Lynn, Gardner W. Pearson, that the whole nation will realize that and others.

Mr. Foss was again wildly cheered as he concluded. Accompanied by Mr. O'Sullivan, he immediately repaired to city hall, where 3000 men broke loose in pandemonium of applause as Mr. O'Sullivan introduced Mr. Foss as the next governor of Massachusetts. Mr. Foss spoke on the high cost of living and then departed amid cheers for the C. M. A. C.

Thomas P. Riley

Meanwhile, the rally continued in Mathew hall in expectation of the arrival of Thomas P. Cassidy, candidate for Lieutenant governor, Col. J. H. Carmichael and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston.

Rep. Thomas P. Riley of Malden, the leader of the democratic minority in the house and one of its ablest speakers, was next introduced and he gave an address that aroused the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch.

Philip Kiely, candidate for senator in the seventh district, spoke on the legislative record of his opponent, Senator Bennett.

Edward P. Tierney spoke on the congressional campaign and the bright outlook for Col. Carmichael.

Major Robert J. Crowley was the concluding speaker, and he advocated strongly the election of the entire state ticket.

The rally adjourned with cheers for the entire ticket and shortly afterward Mr. Cassidy arrived in an auto from Lawrence, having been delayed on account of the rough roads. Mr. Cassidy was taken to the Washington club, where he was entertained for the night. Col. Carmichael did not return from Lawrence until midnight.

On the platform were Hon. John C. Burke, Hon. E. N. Foss, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Rep. Thomas P. Riley of Malden, Thomas W. Nolan of Somerville, Mayor Meehan, Major Robert J. Crowley, J. Joseph Hennessy, Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, James E. O'Donnell, John W. McEvoy, Police Commissioner John J. Mulvaney, John W. Daly, James H. Rogers, candidate for representative in the 14th district, Thomas J. Johnson, Edward F. Tierney, Joseph L. Marlin, James J. Irwin, of Everett, Hon. John E. Drury, Philip

CASSIDY'S ADDRESS

At a Big Democratic Rally in Lawrence

Thomas F. Cassidy, candidate for lieutenant governor on the ticket with Mr. Foss was to be here, but was detained in Lawrence where he addressed a big meeting. He spoke as follows:

Address of Hon. T. F. Cassidy

We are in the midst of a great political and industrial crisis. The people of the state and nation are in a revolt against intolerable conditions. The popular demand for a correction of present abuses has in many commonwealths within the ranks of the republican party swept aside the leaders who have been identified with the old order of things and placed in control men in sympathy with progressive policies. The rank and file of the republican voters in this commonwealth are imbued with this same progressive spirit. Massachusetts occupies the unfavorable position of being the only great state where the dominant party has utterly failed to adjust itself to the popular will or to the spirit of the times. The reason is clear. The will of the republican voter in this commonwealth cannot find expression because of machine control and boss rule. We stand for a correction of these abuses. One of the greatest of them is the infamous Massachusetts lobby and every right minded man should stand up for its abolition. So long as it is permitted to carry on its damnable work, the cause of good government will suffer and the passage of good laws be denied. Governor Draper on the platform has taken me to task and contends that as lieutenant governor I would not have the power to call on the state police to oust the lobby. The governor begs the question. He does not dispute my contention that it exists and that it is a serious evil. He offers no remedy.

I confess that I do not wonder at Governor Draper's estimate of the uselessness and superfluity of such lieutenant governors as he has met and known. The abjectness and self-effacement of my opponent, Mr. Frothingham, may irritate a self-respecting citizen of Massachusetts, but he is typical of the conditions which have grown out of the republican system of succession, a system that has become as smooth and automatic as the moving stairway in a department store. The Boss-selected puppet is placed on the moving stair behind the governor and in due time he moves up and when his predecessor resigns out he takes the head of the procession.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brookfield, Mo.—"Two years ago I was unable to do any kind of work and only weighed 118 pounds. My trouble dates back to the time that women may expect nature to bring them the change of life. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel much better, and I have continued its use. I am very grateful to you for the good health I am now enjoying."—Mrs. SARAH LOUISONOT, 414 S. Livingston St., Brookfield, Mo.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—Inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache and nervous prostration.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

sion and the party. Republican lieutenant governors are seen, not heard. "Theirs not to question why 'Theirs but to do and—sigh."

In fact the ordinary republican voter has little to say about the reelection of his candidate for governor and lieutenant governor. The boss prepares and O. K.'s a waiting list and the machine like a barber, when the chair is empty, cries "Next."

A real live lieutenant governor, one familiar with conditions at the state house, one willing to do his whole duty and recognizing the dignity and responsibility of his high office will never find it necessary to seek out the state police, the servants and subordinates of the state; he will send for them and they will come to him to receive orders and not to give them.

If elected lieutenant governor, my record, my reputation and character are sufficiently well known to my constituents and fellow citizens to convince them that I will keep my promise to them.

The lobby must go. I will do my share in the work of cleansing the state house.

In the 11th hour in the final days of this campaign, Governor Draper has been snooked out of his cave on the commission question. Whether his coming out is the result of the urging of the pangs of conscience, the counsels of expediency or plain political panic, is not important. He is smoked out and admits the democratic mission is wasteful, extravagant and unnecessary. He does not say this in so many words, yet when he declares there are too many commissions and they must be abolished or consolidated, he admits our case. His evidence is useful; he has had five years to watch commissions in practice and he has come into the true faith at last.

A death bed repentance is better than none; it is written that he who hath true repentance may be saved even in the space which divides the fall from the stirrup to the ground.

It is never too late to mend.

For while the lamp holds out to burn the vilest slinger may return."

Now that the governor has come to the mourner's bench will he go a step farther and tell us—for he must know absolutely and definitely after five years' experience—which of the commission luxuries he will get rid of, and which he will consolidate. We should like to learn the measure of the relief he contemplates and get some further proofs of his good intentions.

Yet human nature is skeptical; we have heard candidates make confession and declaration before; and we cannot forget that Governor Draper is the candidate of what has come to be known as "The Party of Broken Promises."

Does the republican machine heed the voice of the people in the nomination of candidates for public office? Does the republican machine believe that the people of the commonwealth want direct nominations? Does the republican machine think that the people are sufficiently intelligent to decide for themselves whether they want direct nominations?

The people of the commonwealth by a majority of their representatives in the popular branch of the legislature have, within the last year, voted for direct nomination and the election of U. S. senator by the people. Who denied the voice of the people? Who prevented them from voting at this very election upon this important question? Who says that in a representative form of government like ours, there shall be no reference to the people of important questions of public policy?

Is the republican machine afraid to trust the people of Massachusetts? Mr. Justice Hughes of the U. S. supreme court, late governor of New York, has declared that not only did the direct nomination of candidates for public office mean the salvation of the republican party in New York state, but also the safety of popular government in the United States. A great contest was waged in New York upon this vital issue.

Did anyone ever hear of the question of direct nomination even whispered in a republican convention in Massachusetts?

The perpetuation of the republican dynasty in this state depends upon the control of conventions by the bosses.

If the legislature should make direct nominations a law in this commonwealth, the power and control of the machine would fall.

The republican machine has always been and now is opposed to direct nominations. The people now have a chance to rebuke the arrogance which has denied them the right to nominate the men of their choice.

The people will meet this menace to popular government, the machine, with the same independence and courage that has ever characterized their action in a great crisis.

POLITICAL NOTES

Congressman McGillicuddy Here Tonight

"Massachusetts is the parent of Maine, for God's sake don't go back on your child, but vote the democratic ticket from top to bottom!"

Such was the party appeal of Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy to the democratic voters of Lawrence, last night.

Congressman McGillicuddy is in Lowell today as the guest of Col. J. H. Carmichael and will address three rallies in this city tonight in the interest of the candidacy of Col. Carmichael.

The rallies will be held at Matthew hall, Lincoln hall and the Keyes' nation rooms.

Congressman McGillicuddy is one of the foremost political speakers in the east and all should hear him. Col. Carmichael and other local speakers will address the rallies.

Carmichael at Lawrence

Among the speakers at the democratic rally in Lawrence last evening was Col. James H. Carmichael of this city, the democratic congressional candidate who in his speech stated that although Butler Ames had received $65,000 for the services that he had rendered the public, the only thing which he could mention in an account of his stewardship was the feeble attempt that he had made at correcting schedule K, the wool schedule, in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and which he finally voted for as it stood.

Col. Carmichael also said:

"Congressman Ames does not mention that when he was in the Massachusetts legislature he voted against the 68 hour bill. He couldn't vote to help the little boys and the girls in the mills. That man appeals to you for votes. Is he the kind of a man children he won't protect the fathers. It makes no difference to him what are the costs of the necessities of life. He voted against the peaceful picketing bill and against inheritance taxes. He voted for Cannon for four different times. He voted for that insidious tariff bill. I want you to vote for men and measures as they did in Maine."

James J. Irwin, democratic candidate for the office of district attorney, will speak at the Washington tavern tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and at city hall at 4.30 o'clock.

Compare the Parties and Their Leaders

HON. EBEN S. DRAPER, Governor of Massachusetts.

GOVERNOR DRAPER'S SPLENDID RECORD

Honorable Eben S. Draper is now completing his second year as Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and he has just been called on for the third time to stand as the Republican candidate for Governor.

Governor Draper has been faithful to his trust.

He has been courageous, fearless and far-sighted, impartial and just.

He has been mindful of the business interests of the Commonwealth.

He has been fair to organized labor, to organized capital, and to the unorganized public.

He has been broad-minded in all things.

His administration has attracted the attention of the whole country.

He has settled the great problems of his administration in the interests of the people.

Massachusetts, under his wise and sagacious leadership has gone forward, and has maintained her supremacy—a supremacy that might easily have been lost.

Governor Draper has given the people of Massachusetts what they asked for and what they needed—a business administration. His second year of administration closes with the people of the Commonwealth generally employed, with new mills in process of construction in different parts of the Commonwealth, and with the condition of the savings banks of the State such as to indicate a prosperous and thrifty people.

"Convention Turned Into Wild Riot

FROM THE BOSTON POST (DEMOCRATIC), OCT. 15, 1910

The Democratic Party in this State is demoralized and disorganized. Eugene N. Foss has been declared to be the choice of the Democratic Party for Governor after the Democrats were unable to agree upon a candidate at their convention, in which fist fights were frequent and rioting was the rule.

How can any self-respecting citizen vote for Mr. Foss, who has secured the nomination for Governor from Democratic Bosses in Boston?

Your vote for Foss for Governor means your vote to deliver the control of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts into the hands of the FITZGERALD-LOMASNEY political machine.

THE TARIFF AND THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The high cost of living cannot truthfully be charged to the TARIFF because on EVERY article of food on the table in the average household the tariff has been reduced in the Payne Bill or remains unchanged. Here is the TRUTH about the tariff:

Bacon and Hams.....Tariff Reduced 20 Per Cent.
Beans.....Tariff Not Changed
Beef.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Butter and Milk.....Tariff Not Changed on Dairy Products
Cane Sugar above 16, all Refined Sugars.....Tariff Reduced 2½ Per Cent.
Cabbages.....Tariff Reduced 33 1-3 Per Cent.
Corn Meal.....Tariff Reduced 5 Per Cent.
Eggs.....Tariff Not Changed

Flour.....Tariff Not Changed
Lard.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Mutton and Lamb.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Peas (dried).....Tariff Reduced 16 2-3 Per Cent.
Peas (in bulk).....Tariff Reduced 37½ Per Cent.
Pork.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Potatoes.....Tariff Not Changed
Salt (in bags, etc.).....Tariff Reduced 8 1-3 Per Cent. to 8½ Per Cent.
Veal.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.

The only articles of food on which the tariff was increased over the Dingley rates are, Pineapples, Figs, Lemons, Dates, Chicory, Buckwheat Flour and Grapes in bulk. The rate was also increased on Wines and Liquors.

GOVERNOR DRAPER SAYS:

"Of the Democratic candidate for Governor, Mr. Foss, I will say that his record of performance in public office is a blank. His public record as a candidate for public office in both parties is well known. When a Republican he tried to rule or ruin, and failed in both. As a Democrat he has tried to rule or ruin, and has succeeded in both."

Governor Draper Holds Sacred the Welfare of Massachusetts

No man ever held the chair of authority on Beacon Hill in higher respect than Governor Draper. In all his addresses to the Legislature and to the people throughout the Commonwealth the keynote has been sincerity. In the making of appointments to office he has utterly freed himself from personal considerations and friendships, as he has practically abandoned entirely all private business to give his time and attention to the work of the State. No governor has worked harder in or out of his office at the State House for the welfare of the people of Massachusetts than has he. He has believed most strongly in the constitutional provision which keeps apart the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, and there has been no interference with the legislature or courts on his part. He has believed insistently in the intelligence of the people of Massachusetts. He believes that no matter what has happened around and about us that Massachusetts will continue to lead and never follow.

HON. LOUIS A. FROTHINGHAM, Lieut.-Gov. of Massachusetts.

John E. Redmond Addressed Big Meeting at Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4.—In Parsons' theatre here last night John E. Redmond, leader of the movement for home rule for Ireland, delivered an address which was rewarded by subscriptions and pledges which will be added to the general fund as a mark of Hartford's sympathy for Ireland.

The Charles J. Klokham branch of the United Irish League and other local Irish societies escorted Mr. Redmond, who was met at Springfield and accompanied by attorneys Henry J. Callena and Thomas J. Molloy. At Union station the party, which included Mrs. Redmond, was met by Mayor Edward L. Smith of Hartford and President William J. A. Mahon of the local league branch.

Mayor Smith presided last night and among the speakers was Frank A. Bagarty, postmaster of Hartford. Today Mr. Redmond and his party will see Hartford on an automobile trip and later he will go to New York to sail Saturday on the Celtic. He will be accompanied to New York by T. B. Fitzpatrick, treasurer, and John O'Callaghan, secretary of the United Irish League of America.

After explaining, as he has in his 35 previous addresses, the needs of Ireland of today, Mr. Redmond continued: "Never have I experienced such enthusiasm as has greeted me in six or seven of your larger cities on this tour. Everywhere I have found the leading statesmen of all parties coming around to me and repeating what one of your most famous citizens once said to me, 'I have never met an American who was hostile to the Irishman's claim for self-government.'" for Morowitz, then chairman of the board of directors of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. Col. Higginson knowing of my large interest had of his own volition and without my knowledge recommended me for the position of director of that great corporation, as a representative of the New England interests which he largely controlled.

"I desire here tonight to return my most grateful thanks to all American citizens, business men, lawyers, professors and statesmen, for their cordial support and especially to the press of America."

So the public can see that I have every reason, on personal grounds, aside from the public services which the colonel has rendered, to hold him in warmest regard.

Now turning to financial matters for a moment, I frankly admit that I am a borrower of money, and always have been. I am using right here in Massachusetts, all the capital at my command to build up the industries of Massachusetts. This is in accord with my inflexible policy which I have pursued for thirty years. I have always been convinced that there was no safer and better investment for capital than in our home industries, and I greatly regret that the financial interests of State street, represented by Col. Higginson, are not as zealous in this direction as the welfare of the state demands.

My early struggles in life as a mechanic and my association with wage earners have perhaps put me more closely in sympathy with working people and with industrial problems than my State street friends, and given me a more sincere faith in the industrial stability of our city and our commonwealth.

And this is the reason why I am a borrower of capital—as I hope I shall always be as long as I live. I borrowed money to rebuild the great Sturtevant works at Hyde Park, which include nearly twelve acres of floor space and give employment to over a hundred men; also for the Becker Milling Machine Co., which gives employment to about five hundred more. I have also borrowed money to assist in building cotton mills in Fall River and New Bedford, and I borrowed most to build the new Maverick mills at East Boston, which will be in operation in a few days and which are to give immediate employment to 1000 or 1200 operatives, with ultimate employment to 5000 when the projected enterprise is complete.

I count upon the success of this last enterprise to afford a final and most conclusive demonstration to State street, that capital can be safely and profitably employed at home, and with vastly more safety if industrial conditions are made what they should be after all these years of neglect by our stagnant republican friends.

Give us right conditions here in New England. We have a right to demand them. And then more people will borrow money for the purpose for which I borrow it; wharf property, which is now rotting, and real estate, which is a drug on the market, will be in demand, and Massachusetts will regain her industrial supremacy.

But I have a confession to make. I have not always kept as steadfastly as I do now to the somewhat narrow avenues of Massachusetts enterprise. It was at the suggestion of Col. Higginson that I borrowed money, as doubtless others did also, to invest through his house, in the Consolidated Rubber Tire Co. of New York, the Harrison Bros. Co. of Philadelphia, and their other foreign locations which I will not enumerate and with results which on this particular occasion, because of my deep regard for Col. Higginson, I will not state. But it is perhaps to these same experiences that I owe my increasing determination to limit my business efforts and resources more and more to Massachusetts.

A CURT RETORT

By Which Foss Hits Col. Higginson

My old friend Col. Higginson expressed some sentiment at Gov. Draper's dinner last night, to which my earnest attention has been given because of my long standing and sincere regard for him. Like all the rest of the Old Guard in Massachusetts, Col. Higginson stands in the highest esteem within the financial circles of State street. His willingness to do a good turn for any friend is unfailing and there are few for whom he has done more than he has for me.

I shall never forget my feelings of gratitude when he called me into his private office one day some years ago and told me of a letter which he had written a few days before to Mr. Vic-

A LIFE SENTENCE

For Slayer of Factory Girl

WORCESTER, Nov. 4.—Upon his plea of guilty of murder in the second degree Sebastião Santasia, the slayer of Giovanni Manzoni, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state prison at Charlestown by Judge Sanderson in the superior criminal court here yesterday. He was indicted for murder in the first degree but the court accepted his plea of guilty of second degree murder.

Santasia is an Italian and his victim was an Armenian. Both were employed in a manufacturing plant here. On June 11 last the men had a quarrel at the factory and Santasia was charged. He went to his lodgings, secured a revolver and returning to the vicinity of the factory lay in hiding until Manzoni came out for his noonday meal, when he shot him to death. Santasia is about 30 years of age.

EIGHT HOUR LAW

Governor Draper Attacked By Organized Labor

Thomas M. Nolan of Somerville Addressed Big Gathering at Machine Shop Gate On Gov. Draper's Unfairness In Vetoing The Eight Hour Law

The Trades and Labor council of this city in line with the expressed policy of the American Federation of Labor of this state began a series of anti-Draper rallies in this city yesterday with James W. Wall, president of the state branch of the A. F. of L. and Thomas M. Nolan of Somerville, a former candidate for mayor of that city as the speakers.

The first meeting was held at noon yesterday at the Machine shop gate and about 700 men were present.

Messrs. Nolan and Wall represent the political activity committee of the A. F. of L. and are two of a large corps of forcible speakers who will tour the state between the present and election day to enlist the support of the working people of Massachusetts for the candidates of the Democracy.

Mr. Nolan was the principal speaker at today's rally and he devoted himself to Governor Draper's attitude on the eight hour bill. It was bad enough for Governor Draper to veto this great measure he said, but it was still worse when the governor in attempting to explain his action make several al misstatements. Governor Draper first stated that the bill was unconstitutional and then stated in a spirit of unfairness that one of the reasons was that if it became law all employers of labor who violated its provisions would be fined $1000.

Every sensible man knows that in cases of all such penalties a maximum and minimum penalty are provided. The eight hour bill did not provide that an employer would be subject to a fine of $1000 for each violation of the law but said that he would be subject to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisonment. Thus under the proposed law an employer violating the eight hour law might be fined $1, $10 or $100, the amount of the penalty being left to the judgment of the presiding justice, and by no means a fine of $1000 for each violation as Governor Draper has stated.

Governor Draper also declared that a law that provides that a violation is prima facie evidence in itself is unfair and yet the governor has already signed five or more bills in which the same provision is involved. The section of the bill referring to prima facie evidence merely stated that if an employer is shown that he has permitted men in his employ to work more than eight hours in 24 this fact is prima facie evidence that he has violated the law. This throws the burden of justifying his act upon the defendant by making it incumbent upon him in order to escape the penalty of a conviction to rebut the presumption against him by proving that there was an emergency calling for the extra hours of labor.

Mr. Nolan spoke in a general way on the question of the constitutionality of the eight-hour bill and stated that it was based absolutely

GIANT OF THE SEA WILL SOON BE READY TO CROSS ATLANTIC

BELFAST, Ireland, Nov. 4.—A swarm of workmen are adding the finishing touches to the steamship Olympic, the largest vessel in the world. The launching of the new giant of the sea was witnessed by tens of thousands of people. When the Olympic struck the water she weighed 27,000 tons. The Olympic will carry a crew of 860 men and has passenger room for 6000 people. The total tonnage of the Olympic is 45,000 tons, exceeding her nearest rival by 13,000 tons. Her length is 882½ feet, or nearly a sixth of a mile, exceeding her nearest rival by nearly 100 feet. The vessel cost $7,500,000 and will be placed in passenger service during the winter between New York and Liverpool.

she met Krenkel, who was clerical in a hotel at Sharon Springs, N. Y., and they became engaged. The wedding was set for next Sunday. Krenkel was waiting at the license bureau when a messenger told him of his sweetheart's death.

George Clark, driver of the truck, was paroled by a coroner.

POLICE STATION MARRIAGE

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—Thomas Barnett, who is in custody here on the charge of having robbed the residence of Howard Kellogg at Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Florence Tomlinson of Toronto, were married in the Central police station Thursday. Barnett and the young lady, who is said to be the daughter of an official of the Grand Trunk railroad, eloped from the Ontario city last Saturday and she believed she had legally married him at Niagara Falls until last night, when, after his arrest, he admitted that he had deceived her with a mock marriage and decided that a minister be sent for to properly wed them. The girl was arrested with Barnett on the same larceny charge and both were committed in default of $2500 each for the action of the Buffalo authorities.

DEATH VS. FIANCE

NEW YORK, November 4.—Ester Pertel, twenty years old, of 235 Second avenue, started from her home Thursday afternoon for the city hall, where she was to meet Samuel Krenkel and appear with him to get a marriage license. In front of her home she stepped in front of a heavily laden truck and was run over and killed.

The girl came from Poland two years ago and had saved most of her earnings as a domestic. Last summer

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. served an excellent banquet to the successful members of the membership campaign last evening. The campaign was conducted very successfully during the month of October by the senior members of the association and the banquet which was held in the rooms of the association was in celebration of the great success attained.

Mr. Charles F. Flemings presided, and there were short addresses by President F. A. Bowen, general secretary, Dr. Tarnell and Mr. W. C. Shaw, one of the new members. The team captains, Mr. Edward W. Dooley and Mr. Hugh Rooney, congratulated each other and their fellow workers in a happy vein.

Two of the members, Mr. Percy Yarnold and Mr. William Wilson, sang several solos.

Mr. Dooley's team scored 66 points. Mr. Rooney's team scored 52 points. The membership campaign will be continued during the month of November.

and Henry T. Stacy, alleged go-between, according to their stories told to State Attorney Wayman, received $250, which they divided equally, for McCutchen's vote on the verdict. The first trial of Browne resulted in a disagreement; the second, in which the bribing of the juror is alleged to have figured, in a verdict of not guilty. Among the witnesses for the state were three state representatives, who asserted on the stand that they had received $1000 each for their votes for Lorimer.

YALE'S SLIM FULLBACK, ONE OF SEASON'S SENSATIONS

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 4.—The hawny fullback is considered a necessity no longer. The old-time heavy and plunging back field man is a thing of the past. The ends, however, are bigger and faster. In fact, the general plan of action seems to be to use the forwards to stir up the storm clouds so that the back fields can flash their lightning through them. The up-to-date gridiron warrior is no longer a gladiator, but a keen, scientific swordsman, looking for every possible opening and driving his thrust home with a splendidly developed right arm. One of the most important changes made in any team this year was the shifting of Captain Hart of the Princeton from fullback to tackle. He was the ideal type of fullback under the old rules—

a big chested fellow who charged like a bull. Hart is now one of the greatest tackles of the season. Coach Haughton of Harvard followed the same policy when he took that powerful fellow Minot out of the back field and put him into a guard position. Seagrave, Cornell's varsity center last year, has been shifted to end. Howe, last year's quarterback at Yale and in several games this year, has been made the regular fullback. He would have been considered impossible for that position last year on account of his weight, but this season he seems to be fit. Picture shows Howe after Coach Ted Coy had commended him for his splendid work at fullback during a practice game. McDavitt is the man tying his shoestrings, and the fellow in the white shirt is Trainer Mack.

FOSS RALLY

here from Lowell and it was 10 o'clock before he appeared upon the platform. Mayor Fitzgerald was "bait" an hour later in arriving from Haverhill.

It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic democratic rallies in years. Congressman Foss declared that the republican party had gone back on its promises so many times that the people had lost confidence and had turned to the democrats for relief. The democratic party, he asserted, stood for privilege and equal opportunity.

As he was about to conclude, a man in the audience, who said that he was an indorser of the speaker's principles, inquired what assurance the voters had if the democrats were again a repetition of the dull times which followed the passage of the tariff bill which President Cleveland allowed to become a law without his signature.

The gubernatorial candidates asserted that Cleveland had done right under the circumstances, as he could not sign the bill and retain his personal honor. The bill, he said, was a better law than the one which had been in effect.

"Isn't the present measure better than the Dingley bill?" continued the questioner.

"No," was the response. "The Dingley bill had some measure of reciprocity, but under this one there is none, and instead we have retaliation. The Payne-Aldrich bill was framed and enacted in the interest of the monopoly and had no interest for the great mass of the people."

The reply of the speaker met with hearty applause.

Mayor Fitzgerald, whose introduction was a chorus in the wings sang "Sweet Adeline," took up the question further and declared that the panic of 1893 was not caused by the Wilson tariff.

WHERE SURGERY FAILS

CUTTING WON'T REMOVE THE CAUSE OF PILES

Piles mean more than merely the pain of the stubborn little tumors. There is a condition inside that must be dealt with. Cutting is usually followed with internal hemorrhage attacks. A permanent cure can only be made by bettering the condition of the parts and getting a free circulation of the blood.

Henn-Rold cures all kinds of piles by internal action right on the cause. Sold by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., and money back if it fails. $1 per bottle. Dr. Leonard Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y.

in bill, but rather by the failure of the crops that year and the two years previous.

Congressman McGillivuddy of Maine, Senator Cassidy, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Charles D. Smith, candidate for district attorney, were earlier speakers. A parade with a band and a reception in the common council chamber preceded the rally.

FOSS AT HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Nov. 4.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings that has ever assembled at city hall greeted Eugene N. Foss and Thos. F. Cassidy at the democratic rally last night, many being unable to gain admittance.

A conservative estimate was that 1500 people were crowded into the hall which has seating capacity for 1000 people. The aisles, corridors and ante-rooms were filled.

The rally was the largest held by the democrats since the days of Gov. Russell and enthusiasm was on tap from the time that the speakers appeared on the platform until after Mr. Foss, who was the last speaker, concluded.

Daniel H. Maguire presided, and when he introduced Thos. F. Cassidy, the party candidate for lieutenant governor, as the first speaker, the latter was cheered warmly.

Mr. Cassidy attacked the labor record of his opponent, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, pointing out that he had always opposed legislative measures favorable to the workingman.

Representative Wm. H. O'Brien of Boston, a former resident of this city, and the democratic candidate for congress in the 6th district, referred to the opposition of Congressman Gardner to labor legislation. He also argued that the re-election of Gardner meant the approval of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

While Mr. O'Brien was speaking, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston arrived, and as he appeared on the stage the audience enthusiastically cheered while the band played "Sweet Adeline."

In his address Mayor Fitzgerald referred to the resources of the country, stating that even with them, 47 per cent of the working people were only earning $8 a week, while only 11 per cent of the 15,000,000 were getting more than $12. He said that the republicans had been in power for 42 out of the last 50 years and he maintained that the republicans were responsible for the conditions that now exist.

Charles D. Smith of Gloucester, the candidate for district attorney, advised his hearers to vote the entire democratic ticket, as a protest against the office to which he aspired being used for political purposes, as he accused the republicans of doing.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when Eugene N. Foss, candidate for governor, arrived by auto from Lawrence, yet the enthusiasm of the audience did not lessen in the least and he was given an ovation by the crowd that remained to the close of his address.

LARGE DIVIDEND

Declared by New Bedford Mill

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 4.—The stockholders of the Acushnet mill corporation received in yesterday's mail, circulars announcing that the directors of the mill had decided to declare a stock dividend of 100 per cent on all the stock now outstanding.

The market was generally unprepared for the announcement. In the latter the stockholders are told that owing to the small capital as compared with the actual value of its property, the dividends paid upon its stock give an erroneous impression of the real profits, and for this reason the directors have decided that the valuations should be increased and new shares issued, making the capital of the corporation $1,000,000.

The question of whether the management of the mill would continue to pay the usual dividends upon the new issue began to be asked on all sides.

With the stock paying a dividend of 100 per cent, it has been quoted in the open market in the neighborhood of $50 a share, and from the fact that there has been no unusual demand for the security, the more conservative investors of the city do not feel inclined to believe that the new stock will come in for the same dividend.

BESIDE TRACKS

Body of Vaselios Evangelon Found Today

The bruised body of Vaselios Evangelon, aged 35 years, residing at 112 Common street, was found lying beside the Boston and Maine tracks, in the heart of the Boston and Northern power house, at an early hour this morning by a yard hand of the B. & M.

The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, where it was identified later by friends. The body was not badly mangled and the indications are that the man had been struck a glancing blow by a passing engine. At just what time the fatality occurred none can tell. Evangelon leaves a wife and seven sons in Greece.

SECRETARY NAGEL

ADDRESSED THE REPUBLICANS OF ALBANY

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Braving the first snowstorm of the season, Albanians turned out in force last night to greet Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, and to listen to a discussion of national issues by Chas. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor. It was the first big republican rally in Albany this campaign and the audience filled Harmanus Bleeker hall from orchestra to gallery. William Barnes, Jr., leader of the "Old Guard" forces, which were defeated at the Saratoga convention by the progressives under Colonel Roosevelt's leadership, occupied a box. Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who also played an important part in the "Old Guard's" fight against direct nomination at the Saratoga convention, was one of the speakers last night in behalf of Mr. Stimson.

A reference to the administration of Governor Hughes by City Comptroller Howard Fuller, who presided, was vociferously applauded. This applause was repeated when Secretary Nagel mentioned President Taft. But the greatest outburst aside from that which greeted the arrival of Mr. Stimson, occurred when Mr. Nagel spoke of Col. Roosevelt.

Secretary Nagel was the first speaker at last night's meeting. "I do not come here authorized to say this thing or that thing," he said by way of introduction, "but I am here to speak my own mind on national issues. The result in this state is bound to be of great importance to the nation. If you ask me about 1912 I say that isn't the question because our country has a president who is not staying awake nights to try to find out how nominations are to be made in 1912."

Secretary Nagel said he had not seen or heard anything to make him depart from the conviction that in a political campaign in which the policy of the country was involved it was best to stay with the discussion of principles and to steer away as far as conditions admitted, from an engagement in personal controversy.

Above all, he emphasized, it should be borne in mind that important as local issues might be, the ability of the national administration to carry out its pledges and to cope with the problems that were presented to it, was now to be fortified or weakened. The question, he declared, was whether or not this administration should be given the fullest opportunity to fulfill those pledges which found definite and precise expression in the last national platform.

There was a disposition among the opponents of the republican party, he said, to contrast the present administration with the last and have it appear that even in some respects they stood in antagonism to each other. This, he declared, was far from the truth. The last administration rendered a service of inestimable value to bringing the public mind to a realization of questions and problems with which this country was confronted. It was needless at this time, he pointed out, to urge that a condition of things had arisen which called for a strong hand and an unwavering personality such as Colonel Roosevelt to bring them to public attention for answer. So much having been done, the time came, he said, when it was for the government to formulate those principles and to cast them into permanent shape. Instead of contrasting two administrations, he continued, it ought to be realized that in point of fact they completely complemented each other.

Mr. Nagel next analyzed the accomplishments of the present federal administration. He went deeply into the tariff admitting that not as much was accomplished as had been hoped for, but pointing out that substantial progress had been made and the continuance of republican administration meant that this progress would be continued while the policy of a democratic administration in power would mean that all which had been gained in this direction would be lost. In the same vein he pointed out what had been accomplished in the matter of conservation of public resources, the curbing of lawless corporations, the enactment of postal and various other reforms which had been brought about by the present administration, and those that President Taft had promised to secure should he retain the confidence and support of the American electorate.

"You've got the cleverest Overcoats in town, and I've seen them all" ---

We've heard that many times from men who have investigated—who come to be shown. Now we want YOU to know it.

Maybe you are one of those who argue that the best place to buy any garment is where the greatest number is shown.

It doesn't follow that the best choosing or the fairest prices are in the biggest stock. Some stores rely entirely on SIZE for their strength.

The Smart Clothes Shop shows as clever overcoats as you'll find anywhere—not as many as some stores, but the cream of the market at the prices covered—at $15.00 and up to $30.00.

The D. S. O'Brien Co. are clothes specialists—featuring clothes of high character—displaying expert taste in the selection of fabrics and models, and intelligent service in the selling—withal, pricing every garment reasonably.

If you're looking for the best $15.00 overcoat in town, don't miss seeing the strong values in hand-tailored coats shown this week at the Smart Clothes Shop.

If you want as good a coat as money will buy, look at those splendid Stein-Bloch coats at $25.00 and $30.00. At these prices, or at the prices in between—$17.50, $20.00, $22.50—you'll find here an overcoat to meet your ideas and your needs—if you look for it. Overcoats for dress, motoring, or all round wear and each model in fabrics suited to that particular style. Make a note of it—THE SMART CLOTHES SHOP IS STRONG ON OVERCOATS.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

As well try to stop the tide with a broom as to stop the election of Foss.

Thomas F. Cassidy, democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, is the son of a Union soldier whose constitution was ruined in Libby prison and who died at an early age as a result of his sufferings. The son of such a father may well be entrusted with a responsible position in the service of the state. He will make an able assistant to Governor Foss in administering the affairs of the state.

COL. ROOSEVELT EXPLAINS

It is amusing to find Col. Roosevelt in New York state trying to convince the large audiences that there is no danger in "Rooseveltism." The tide of public sentiment is evidently turning against him since republicans are working for the election of Dix, the democratic nominee, in order to rebuke Roosevelt and prevent the possibility of his nomination in 1912. Col. Roosevelt explains that he has nothing to take back in regard to his new nationalism.

A SCURRILOUS POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

The republican agencies that are sending out Governor Draper's political advertising have descended to a species of scurrility such as was never to our knowledge resorted to by the republican party of this state on any former occasion.

In the page advertisement that has been published in most of the newspapers of the state and which appears in this issue, Governor Draper or somebody for him endeavors to prejudice the voters against Mr. Foss so that they will not vote for him. But this resort to scurrility and unfair tactics will defeat its purpose and have the opposite effect, to wit, to strengthen the support of Mr. Foss at the polls.

The governor in this advertisement undertakes to do three things: (1) to defend the tariff against the charge that it has increased the cost of living, (2) to defend his own administration, and (3) to blacken and defame the democratic candidate.

It may not have occurred to the writer of this advertisement that he has set before him a very difficult task. His defense of the tariff is weak and unconvincing.

Let it be understood at the outset that the Dingley tariff was excessively high and that the republicans promised a revision downward not upward.

Instead, however, of carrying out this pledge to the people the republican party deliberately revised the tariff upward. By that is meant that the average of all the schedules was increased in the Payne-Aldrich law.

The democratic claim in regard to the tariff is, that it has increased the cost of living while Senator Lodge, Governor Draper and some other republicans hold that the tariff has not increased the cost of living. Governor Draper in his effort to refute the democratic contention on this point asserts that on every article of food on the table of the average household the tariff has been either reduced to left unchanged.

Among the articles on which the tariff is unchanged are eggs, beans, potatoes, flour, milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products.

These are articles on which the tariff was already too high and on which a reduction would have helped to lessen the cost of living. That was probably why no reduction was made.

But the high cost of living does not depend solely upon the price of food.

The cost of clothing, building materials and household articles must also be considered. These Governor Draper, very wisely for his own case, passes over unnoticed.

How about the schedule on woolen dress goods?

When a woman purchases $10 worth of woolen dress goods the value of the goods is represented by $4.87 and the tariff tax $5.13. This is because the Payne-Aldrich tariff impost is 105 per cent. ad valorem. In other words on each dollar's worth of goods imported the new tariff law levies a tariff tax of $1.05. The tax on blankets is 107 per cent., flannels 40 cents a yard or 144 per cent.

Why did Governor Draper in his advertisement evade these important figures if he wanted to enlighten the voters upon the issues of the campaign?

Do not these things affect the cost of living? There are many other matters equally vital to the household but which were passed over in silence by the governor for reasons that the public will readily realize.

Next, this advertisement of Governor Draper essays an elaborate defense of his record, but it does not mention the eight-hour law, nor for the very best of reasons does it once mention the word "economy."

His Excellency makes no claim to conducting an economic administration, nor could he sustain such a claim for the reason that the state expenditures jumped from $12,739,650.35 in 1908 to $14,946,010.28 in 1910, an increase of $2,206,359.93.

Will Governor Draper please explain the necessity of this large increase which amounts to very close on to 20 per cent?

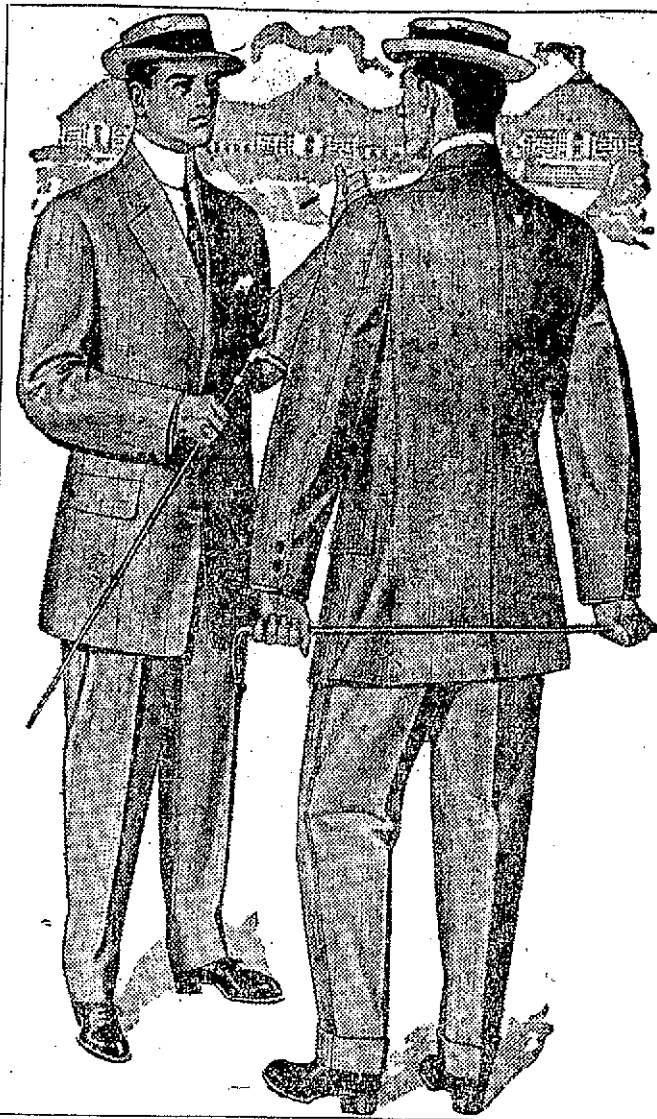

The governor says he has given the people what they wanted—a business administration. If that be so, the business administrations come high.

Now with regard to the scurrilous matter and caricatures culled from sensational papers in Boston relative to the democratic state convention, we believe the governor's agents made a mistake in descending to such scurrility.

The charge is freely made in the republican advertisement referred to, that a vote for Foss is a vote to place the control of the commonwealth in the hands of Boston political bosses. That is a grave injustice to Mr. Foss, and it grossly misrepresents the man, his reputation and his aims.

There is nothing in Mr. Foss's record to sustain any such charge, and we believe that such tactics will injure rather than help the cause of Governor Draper. The advertisement is one of the things that will help to roll up a big majority for Mr. Foss.

RIFLE PRACTICE

MAY BE MADE BIENNIAL AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—There is considerable quiet talk as to the advisability of making the national rifle matches a biennial affair instead of holding them yearly. That they have been a tremendous factor in arousing interest in shooting throughout all branches of the military service and the national guard is not denied. Since they were instituted by an act of congress appropriating money for the national trophy, medals and prizes, congress has increased the appropriation for the national guards from one to two million dollars annually, with the understanding that $500,000 of this appropriation was to be expended in rifle practice. Out of this money the expenses of the teams at the national match are paid. In many cases there expenses constitute a very formidable drain on the state's allotment. Especially is this the case with the smaller states and territories. These usually have long trips involving heavy transportation charges and considerable pay for the members of the team while on duty coming and going. An officer in the Arizona National guard receives the same as an officer of similar rank in the New York National guard while on duty, so that the team expenses for the smaller states are as high as those for the larger states although the amount of money received from the national government is very much less. The result has been that where a small state sends a team to the tournament each year it finds itself with little left for rifle practice at home. These states and territories are anxious to apply a certain amount of the federal appropriation to the construction and equipment of state ranges and for rifle practice among the members of the guard at home. It is also felt that if the matches were held every two years there would be greater novelty and more interest taken in them. The army has adapted a two year system of annual matches partly on account of the fact that the army maneuvers and individual camps of the national guard are held in alternate years. Preparations for the national matches and attendance thereon consume considerable time on the part of the members of the teams and practically eliminates them from participation in the maneuvers. For the last two years the army has supplied the officers and men for the Camp Perry range during the National Rifle Association matches as well as

LOGIC ABOUT THE SKIN

There was a time when the family doctor was consulted for every ailment. Nowadays there are specialists in every branch of the medical profession. A chemist, who had made a study of skin troubles, and was convinced that the old method of taking internal medicines was wrong, discovered that an extract from a particular part of a certain tree possessed properties that had a wonderful soothing and healing effect in skin troubles. This important extract is now combined with other ingredients in a form convenient for general use and is known as Cadum. It has cured many cases of eczema and other unsightly, irritating skin diseases. Some of the cures may be truly called wonderful. People who have suffered for years can now take fresh courage, because Cadum is entirely different from anything else. It gives immediate relief in all skin troubles. 10c and 25c.

during the national matches. As this involves the services of more than one hundred officers and over one thousand experienced men it seriously handicaps the training of the national guardsmen by the regular officers during the maneuvers years. It also accentuates the serious shortage of regular army officers. If however the national matches required the services of twice as many officers and enlistment from the regular army, to conduct them, their value as a military feature to the country would be well worth the expenditure. By next year the government of the United States will possess a rifle range of sufficient size and equipment to take care of the national matches. It is constructing a new range near Sparta, Wisconsin, in connection with the artillery range there and on this range a national matches can be accommodated. It is doubtful, however, whether the National Rifle Association matches could be shot there as there will probably be only one bunk of targets. Fifty in number, so that only one stage of one match could be shot at a time. At Camp Perry with its equipment of more than two hundred targets it is possible to shoot several matches simultaneously.

STREET RAILWAY MEN

Held Their Annual Concert and Ball Last Night

Probably the most successful concert and ball held in this city during the present season took place last night at the Association hall under the auspices of Lowell division, No. 289, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America. Despite the inclement weather the friends of the men on the front and rear of the cars turned out in large numbers and they were well repaid for their trouble, for the evening proved to be a most enjoyable one.

Shortly after eight o'clock the first number on the concert program, the overture, entitled Marines' Inspection was given after which a vocal selection was rendered by John S. Moir. Chas. S. Sturtevant gave a trombone solo and received much applause. Messrs. James McNally and Frank McCartin also gave vocal selections. The interior of the hall was decorated in a very artistic and attractive manner, the front of the stage being adorned with pink and green bunting, with the lower border covered with green and white bunting. There were many potted plants and ferns in evidence, behind which was seated the orchestra.

The front of the gallery was covered with streamers of green and white while from the centre descended to the side streamers of pink and white. The windows and gallery posts were also adorned with bunting of the prevailing hues.

At the close of the dancing special cars awaited those who wished to go to the outskirts of the city.

The officers of the evening were: General manager, William E. Sproule; assistant general manager, Alfred Killoy; floor director, Edward J. Donnelly; chief aid, Robert Altken; assistant floor director, William S. McCann; aids: George McWilliams, John J. Kelly, Henry Foley, John J. Fanning, Patrick Regan, Jerome Cullen, Fred-

Does this man look as if he were dying from heartburn and fermentation caused by indigestion—and had no appetite? Read what he says about it in his own words:

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Gentlemen: I used to be troubled with a weak heart, also indigestion, fermentation of food, heart burn, loss of appetite—most everything I ate distressed me. For a short time I obtained relief from doctors and from the medicines my friends advised me to take; then I would become just as sick again, until a Doctor prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I began to take your medicine and it did me a world of good. When I began taking your Malt Whiskey I weighed 150 lbs., now I weigh 178 lbs., and can eat anything without being distressed. I have sent many bottles to friends of mine in the country who were troubled with indigestion and who have been cured by its use. It has been several years since I found relief myself but I always keep Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my family for medicinal use.

J. FRANK KENT,

Thousands of such cases are being cured every month. The genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by all druggists, grocers and dealers or direct, $1.00 a large bottle.

HE TRIED SUICIDE

Man Shot Himself In Wife's Presence

AYER, Nov. 4.—Alfred E. Manzor, 56 years old, married, who lives in East Main street in this town, shot himself twice with suicidal intent last evening. Chief of Police Beatty was notified and removed Manzor to the

Groton Hospital in an automobile after the injured man had been attended by Dr. B. H. Hopkins. Manzor came here from Maine, where all his relatives live. He has lived in this town a long time and was employed in a factory. Recently the business changed hands and Manzor has been worrying about his position. He greatly feared losing his job at the approach of the winter, and this worry preyed upon his mind so much that it is thought he became temporarily affected mentally. Manzor was in the kitchen of his home last evening with his wife when he suddenly took a 32-caliber revolver from a pocket and fired one bullet into his head. The next instant he fired a second shot, which he directed at his heart. The bullet entered the body but missed the heart. Mrs. Manzor screamed for help and attempted to prevent her husband firing the second shot, but without success. Neighbors, hearing her screams, rushed into the house and found Manzor unconscious upon the floor. His chances for recovery are very slight. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

LOWELL HIGH WILL PRESENT STRONG LINEUP TOMORROW

A large crowd should be out to see Lowell High play Roxbury High at Washington park tomorrow afternoon. Although the high school team has only two games in the win column, yet they have lined up against some of the best teams in the state and have made a creditable showing. The first game against the Wellington Academy team was won in easy fashion by a score of 32 to 0. The next game, played at Nashua, was a game of trying out new plays, and Lowell lost, 10 to 0. On Columbus day they defeated South Boston, 18 to 0. On the following Saturday, Lowell lost to English High in an exciting contest, mostly through the all round playing of one Javrin, a ringer. On Oct. 20, Lowell High played Lawrence Academy, a team composed of much heavier and older players, and were beaten 12 to 0. On Oct. 29 the team traveled to Malden and held that team, a team that is considered by many coaches the best in the state, to a 12 to 0 score. Malden has a record of nine victories, including a win against Somerville. Coach Cuddy of Malden said after the game that no team that Malden has lined up against this year worked the forward pass so well as the Lowell team. He also complimented the Lowell boys upon the fight and spirit with which they went into the game. At the beginning of the year, the first line was very weak, but Coach Mahoney has strengthened that so that with the Haverhill game, the big game of the year, only two weeks away, the team is nearly at top form. The game begins at three o'clock sharp. The probable lineup for Lowell: Carrier, Bailey and Trull, ends; Rostler, Spalding and Clark, tackles; Kew, Edgar and Hazeltine, guards; Hogan, centre; Leggett, quarterback; Bowers and Cawley, left half; Bennett and Frazer, right half; Donovan, full back.

lowest minstrel shows and while the women were the whole show there were plenty of men there to applaud the excellent manner in which the program was carried out. There were songs, some old and some new, parodies with a local tint and jokes galore. It was a big night and those in attendance were thoroughly satisfied with the entertainment and are in hopes that it will be repeated.

Reports on the Condition of Trees

As a result of the accident on the South common on the afternoon of July 1, Mayor Meehan sent a communication to the park commission requesting that body to make a thorough inspection of the trees within the streets of the city and in pursuance of this request the park commission instructed the superintendent of parks, Charles A. Whittet, to make a thorough inspection of the trees.

It was a long and tedious job and one that could be attended to only at such times when nothing more important demanded the superintendent's attention. Mr. Whittet, however, succeeded in making a thorough inspection of the trees and presented his report to the commissioners at their meeting last night. The report is a very interesting and a very thorough one. There are 10,286 trees in the streets and parks of Lowell and of this number Mr. Whittet recommends that 708 be removed. He recommends that the sum of $10,000 be appropriated for the removal of dangerous trees and the preservation of other trees. He says that all decayed matter should be removed from cavities and that the trees should be treated with tar and creosote, cemented and covered with zinc. He recommends that insect life be killed and that the trees be bolted to prevent limbs from breaking off.

MINSTREL SHOW

GIVEN BY GIRLS OF THE BOOT MILLS

An excellent minstrel show was held last night under the auspices of the Working Girls' club of the Boot mills. There were several hundred employees present and the ladies presented a fine program. The club is a rather novel one, and is sanctioned by the mill officials in order to bring closer relations between the employer and employee, and also to form a bond of friendship and companionship among the employees.

A large room, known as the recreation room, in mill No. 6 is given up to the club and it was in that room that the entertainment was held last night. There was a small admission fee charged, but inasmuch as the proceeds of the affair are to go to the club there were several hundred tickets purchased. The affair was one of those old-fashioned

Baker Badly Injured By Kneading Machine

Apostolos Padakas, who conducts a bakery in Jefferson street, had his hand caught in a kneading machine early this afternoon and it was so badly crushed that amputation may be necessary.
Padakas was so caught that it was necessary to take the machine apart to extricate him, during which time he suffered intensely. Up to a week or more ago he had as a business partner one George Katran, and it was Katran who discovered Padakas' plight. He happened to be in the immediate vicinity and hearing screams within the bakery he ran in. He found the machine in motion with Padakas' hand caught in it. He immediately stopped it and cried for help. The machine was splattered with blood. Padakas was taken to the drug store at 472 Market street and the ambulances summoned, and he was removed to the Lowell General Hospital. Padakas is married and resides at 458 Market street.

THE LOCAL MILLS

Several Are Installing Electric Plants

The fact that quite a considerable amount of machinery has been in idleness in the local mills because of low water, discussion turns, and quite naturally too, to the steam and electric power employed in the mills, especially the latter.
It is interesting to know that textile mills in all parts of the country have introduced the electric motor for driving all kinds of machinery.
The Massachusetts mills, as has already been stated, in these columns, are at work upon a new power house, in which electrical power will be generated by large alternators, driven by, and directly connected to, steam turbines.

The mills of the Tremont & Suffolk companies are now driving much of their machinery electric motors, and intend to eventually electrify the entire plant.

At the Boot mill important power changes are underway, and the time is not far distant when electric drives will handle all the machinery there.
The Bigelow Carpet company is also preparing to run its local plant almost entirely by electricity.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Middlesex Social club will have an "open night" on Monday evening, and invites candidates of both parties to attend and speak. Edward Charron is president and H. J. Redard secretary.

HON. EUGENE N. FOSS SPEAKING AT THE DEMOCRATIC RALLY LAST NIGHT

Candidate for governor, came to Lowell, and, as he afterward said himself, received the greatest reception that has been accorded him throughout the campaign while several aged residents stated that they had not seen such a demonstration since General Butler's time.
Owing to a mishap of arrangements, through no fault of the local managers, Mr. Foss' experience early in the evening was somewhat unpleasant, but subsequent happenings more than atoned for his previous discomfort.
On account of the weather it was expected that Mr. Foss and the other speakers would come to Lowell by train, and Joseph L. Marin, candidate for county commissioner, was at the depot with his auto, as was Thomas J. Johnson to receive the guests. But Mr. Foss and a party of newspapermen came to town in an auto and went direct to the American hotel, while Mr. Cassidy, the candidate for lieutenant governor, went to Lawrence first and came to Lowell later over the road. Mayor Fitzgerald, who was expected, did not put in an appearance, having been assigned to rallies in other cities. In the early evening the Lowell Central band marched through the downtown streets with boys bearing announcements of the rally. As soon as it became known that Mr. Foss was in town the band retraced its steps to the hotel, where Charles J. Martel, democratic candidate, was to speak. Mr. Foss decided to go there first, and a procession was made up with the band and the autos of Messrs. Foss and Marin, and proceeded up Merrimack street to Dutton, where the band turned in to go to Mathew hall, while the autos proceeded to the C. M. A. C. hall, only to find the hall in darkness, as the crowd had not arrived.

All hands immediately went back to Mathew hall, where Mr. Foss found Dutton street packed with a cheering multitude. The rally had been opened upon his arrival and not only was the hall packed almost to suffocation, but several thousands filled the entryways and thronged the street. It was with great difficulty that the late arrivals gained access to the hall. It was then that Mr. Foss would speak from the hall steps before leaving the city, and the crowd, headed by the band, repaired to the municipal building where the arrival of the candidate. Over 3000 men wildly cheered Mr. Foss at city hall and after a fifteen minute speech there he went to the C. M. A. C. hall, where this time a packed hall greeted him vociferously. He spoke on reciprocity with Canada, to the French voters and then went to Lawrence and spoke and wound up the night in Haverhill, where he addressed a great crowd. "Lowell has given me the greatest reception of the campaign," said Mr. Foss with apparent delight as he shook hands with Humphrey O'Sullivan before departing for Lawrence.

At Mathew Hall
The rally at Mathew hall was arranged by Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan who couldn't secure his own hall. Associate, by reason of the fact that it had been engaged long before the campaign started by the Street Railway Association.
Mr. O'Sullivan called to order at 8 o'clock and in brief and enthusiastic remarks prophetic of a thorough democratic victory introduced as the presiding officer, Hon. John C. Burke of this city. Mr. Burke's characteristic eloquent manner and his remarks were warmly applauded.
Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was next introduced and he spoke of local conditions in hopeful manner. Thomas Nolan of Somerville, representing the political activity com-

tee of the American Federation of Labor, was next introduced and he devoted his attention to Gov. Draper's veto of the eight-hour bill and his excuses for so doing. Mr. Nolan was in the midst of his argument when Mr. Foss entered the hall.
The crowd in the hall took up the cheers of those outside and all were on their feet cheering wildly as the candidate entered. Several minutes elapsed before the applause subsided and then Mr. Foss after thanking the audience, spoke in part as follows:
"I am very glad that at last Senator Lodge has regained his voice so as to mention schedule 12, the wool and wool goods tariff. He was speechless in the senate on this schedule last year. He has been speechless during this campaign until the questions I asked him at Waltham forced him to answer.
"But I find his explanation as unsatisfactory as was his silence. He admits the schedule is wrong. He could do nothing else, but he says he voted for it for fear the senators from the wool growing states would join the democrats. In all probability the wool senators are now telling their constituents that they voted for it because if they hadn't the senators from the worst manufacturing states would have joined the democrats and defeated the bill.
"Senator Lodge tells only half of the story. President Taft told the whole of the story at Winoona.
No Protest by Lodge
"Now, Senator Lodge, when did you discover that changing the wool schedule would defeat the bill? You say it was better to save the bill than to lose a number of provisions, the tariff board, above all. But the tariff board was not proposed until the bill was near its final vote, and before that you, Senator Lodge, had stood steady."

To Act on the Shedd Park Matter Tonight

Special meetings of both branches of the city council have been called for tonight. Mayor Meehan called the special meetings for the purpose of taking action on the Shedd park matter.
At the meeting of the aldermen last Tuesday night they voted an appropriation of $10,000 for preliminary work on Shedd park. The councilmen killed the order.
Tonight Alderman Gray will introduce another loan order for $10,000 for the same purpose. It was stated that some of the councilmen voted against the $10,000 loan because of the failure of the park commission to expend for the improvement of the Little Canada playground the $3000 appropriated for that purpose.
The park commission at a meeting held last night made a statement in explanation of its conduct in the matter. The commissioners said they did not expend the money because of the fact that they were advised that the Locke & Canals intended to make use of the land on which the playground is located, and they allowed it to be a waste of money to expend it there. In view of this explanation it is expected that the common council will reconsider its action and vote the $10,000 loan for Shedd park.
Other meetings scheduled for tonight include the city and water boards. All these meetings are scheduled for 8 o'clock.

FOR CARMICHAEL JUVENILE COURT

Independence League Will Support Him Boys Accused of Pulling In False Alarm

The local branch of the Independence league which is still in existence though in the words of a prominent ward six politician is "laying dormant" at present, held a meeting at 142 Market street last evening for the purpose of deciding upon candidates to support in the coming election. There were present several members from Lawrence, Andover and Methuen. The meeting was called by Mr. John Burt, chairman of the league's city committee, and he presided, while William Rafferty officiated as secretary. Mr. Burt in opening the meeting stated that he deemed it necessary that the league should take a definite stand in the election, especially in the congressional election. He then referred to Congressman Ames' record and stated that Congressman Ames' endorsement by Speaker Cannon two years ago together with his subsequent actions were sufficient to convince one that he was not the man to represent a constituency of working people. Col. Carmichael on the other hand, he said, during his long service at city hall had ever talked and voted in the interest of the working people. Other speakers were heard after which it was voted that independent voters would serve their own interests best by voting for Col. James H. Carmichael for congress. The other candidates were then discussed and the league voted to support Hon. E. N. Foss for governor and Hon. Fisher H. Pearson of Lowell and Philip Kiely of Lynn for senator in the eighth and seventh districts. During the meeting a copy of an open letter from Speaker Cannon to Congressman Ames was read. Among the many laudatory remarks made were the following: "That the voters of his district would do well to retain as their representative in congress this tried and true republican." The question was asked: "Why doesn't Congressman Ames use this endorsement in his campaign this year?"

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—One woman was killed, several persons were injured, and there were numerous narrow escapes in fires in various sections of the city today. Mrs. Rebecca Abner, the woman killed, is declared by witnesses to have been kicked from a third floor fire escape to her death in the courtyard below while she was fleeing with her husband and children from a fire set by an incendiary in the Clinton street tenement in which they lived. The woman's assailant escaped unidentified. Another woman fell from the rear fire escape and was badly hurt. The police and firemen effected many rescues. The building was badly damaged.

IN THE CHURCHES

Several Entertainments
Held Last Night

A very enjoyable coffee party was held last night at the Grace church. There was an entertainment program that was very pleasing. The program was prepared by Miss Alice L. Livingston and Miss Bertie M. Abbott, and included two groups of living pictures that were sweet to behold.

There were songs by Miss Eva Cruikshank, Miss Pauline Coggeshall, accompanying. Miss Gertrude Weinbeck played the piano, accompanying the pictures and Miss Ruth Crawford gave the descriptive readings.

The first was a group of pictures representing the 12 months of the year as follows: January, Miss Ella Perham; February, Miss Heleno Abels; March, Miss Beulah Macdonald; April, Miss Beulah Sturtevant; May, Miss Eloise Dion; June, Miss Maud Gray; July, John Weinbeck; August, Miss Maud Hadley; September, Miss Helen Spencer; October, Miss Hazel Brainard; November, Miss Mildred Hall; December, John and Alice Weinbeck and Eloise Dion.

In the second group were the following: "Three Little Maids from School," Alice, Nellie and Bertha Spaulding; "Nydia," the blind girl, Beulah Sturtevant; "Little Red Riding Hood," Florence Weinbeck; "My Lady Betty," Marian Martin; "Mistress Peck," Helen Spencer; "Minniehaha," Nellie Horner; "Carmen," Eva Rollins; "Rebekah," Maud Gray; "After the Masked Ball," Paul Goward; "Maud Muller," Blanche Gray; "A Rubenstien Melody," Hazel Whitecomb; "Book of Ages," Beulah Macdonald; "A Rose of Plymouth Town," Hazel Brainard; "Columbia," Maud Hadley.

Gave Fine Concert

A very fine concert was given last night at the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Philathea class.

Readings by Miss Marion Nichols, who made her first appearance here, were a charming feature of the program. She was given encore after encore and responded with good will and much charm.

Miss May L. Eveleth favored with vocal selections and Miss Mildred Brennan played the violin. Enjoyable selections were contributed by the Cecilia Ladies' orchestra. The officers of the Philathea class are: President, Mrs. Margaret Gardner; vice president, Mrs. Florence Adams; treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Jaques; secretary, Mrs. Josephine E. Brownell.

First Trinitarian Church

"The Golden West" is the subject of the fourth illustrated lecture by Mr. Kennigott in the First Trinitarian

Congregational church on Tuesday, November 8th, at 8:00 p. m. The lecture will cover particularly California, and will be illustrated by a large number of finely colored pictures, together with snap-shots of the California Indians.

Regular Monthly Supper

The regular monthly supper and social of the Ladies Aid society of the Worthen Street M. E. church was held in the church vestry last evening. The attendance was large and everybody had a good time. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock and was in charge of Mrs. Annie Stone, assisted by Miss Mary Hardy, Miss Rose Slys, Mrs. Mattie Costello, Mrs. Frank Humphrey, Mrs. John W. Fraser, Mrs. E. L. Sherwood, Mrs. Harry Tuttle, Mrs.

Anna Dearth and Mrs. Loren Fuller.

Miss Susie Green had charge of the entertainment and the program was very pleasing. It consisted of a Teason; piano selection, Mr. George piano duet by Miss Wirt and Miss Smith and a song by Mr. E. Teason.

THE PARK BOARD

Explains Hitch on Little Canada Park

The park commission met last night and made a statement as to why the commission had not spent on the Little Canada playground the $3000 appropriated for that purpose.

The commission explained that just after the money had been appropriated and as Supt. Whitely was about to start work on the improvement of the grounds the commissioners learned that the Locks & Canals had planned to make use of the land for their own purposes and in view of this fact the commission did not deem it advisable to spend the money there. It is understood that the commissioners know what the Locks & Canals intend to do with the grounds but are not at liberty to say at this time.

Believing that it was their duty to make some explanation to the public as to their failure to expend the money for the purpose for which it was appropriated, the commissioners gave out the following statement:

"That the commissioners were informed about two months ago by the owners of the land known as the Little Canada playground, there was in contemplation of such disposition as would make it impossible for the city to continue its occupancy.

"With this information the commission has not felt justified in making further expenditures on the property."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Robert H. Davis, the author of "The Family," the Shuberts' latest dramatic success, which, after its engagement at the Globe theatre, Boston, will be seen in this city shortly, is the editor of Munsey's magazine. "The Family" is his first play. It was originally produced in Chicago a year ago by Henry Miller. Mr. Miller at that time was unable to obtain bookings for the piece on account of the fact that he was an "Independent." The Shuberts secured the rights and recently brought out the piece at the Comedy theatre, New York. It is the original cast headed by John Westley which comes to this city.

CHRISTIAN HANSEN.

Climatic considerations are paramount in connection with grand opera productions. For this reason, as Christian Hansen, the famous tenor who will be seen here on November 12th at the Opera House with the New Opera company, has a hard and fast contract for fifty payments, sing or no sing, Joseph Carl Breit has insured himself with the Lloyds against possible loss because of climatic conditions.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX" On Saturday, Nov. 5, matinee and night at the Opera House, theatre goers of this city will have an opportunity to see the dramatization of Harold McGrath's novel, "The Man on the Box" which was made for Henry B. Dixey by Grace Livingston Furness.

The company is headed by Mr. John Meehan, and his supporting company plays the comedy with just the right proportion of exaggeration and elegance to make an evening of delicious and entertaining foolery. Under their touch it seems the most natural thing in the world for a perfectly sane young gentleman to attempt a practical joke by playing coachman, and to bring up in the police court because he had mounted to the wrong box; and quite the natural consequence for the young lady, to the box of whose carriage he had mounted, to pay his fine and to hire him for the coachman he appears, that she may find out at her leisure who he is. So they beguile us step by step into believing in their escapades. And all because they play it naturally and vivaciously and even

HARD WORK

When Your Nerves Give Way, Dr. Green's Nervura Builds Them Up and Makes Honest Strength

The woman who does her own work and takes care of children has need of all her strength. All around us there are examples of what overwork will do. It overtaxes the nerves too, and then trouble begins.

Dr. Green's Nervura is the great strengthener for overworked women. It gives them strength from their food and strength from perfect rest at night. It regulates the nerves and builds up in every way.

Mrs. John H. Lutz, 48 Springfield ave., Newark, N. J., says: "When I began to take Dr. Green's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I was terribly run down. My baby had been very sick and I was nursing him day and night. I got so worried I couldn't eat nor sleep."

When I tried to get my heart seemed to come up in a lump in my throat and choke me, and I would leave everything unattended. Any little noise would make me jump, and I lost all my color and got so thin I thought I would break down myself. That was when I decided to take Dr. Green's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I am thankful to say it helped me wonderfully. It enabled me to bear the terrible strain of my baby's sickness and kept me from breaking down in spite of all I had to stand. My appetite and color returned and I began to gain flesh. I recommend Dr. Green's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all women run down through overwork, sickness, or any cause, and I give this letter to the hope that other mothers who are worrying over their sick children and trying to do their work may know how to keep up the health under such trying circumstances."

You love your home and your children, and you want to do the work, but when you over-do, your nerves begin to cry out against outrage. You must have help, and you'll find it in Dr. Green's Nervura, which is known everywhere, and which is everywhere working wonders for women. Remember you can consult Dr. Green free, without charge, at his office, 24 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

with elegance. They act as men and women are supposed to act; they point their satirical commentaries glibly and unconsciously of them. A baritone matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at which performance the best orchestra and balcony seats will be 25c. Seats are now on sale.

"THE DAWN OF A TOMORROW" Miss Gertrude Elliott (Mrs. Forbes-Robertson) was recently asked to write in the album of a friend her idea of the three strong periods in the average young girl's life. The star of "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" which comes to the Opera House, Friday, Nov. 11, wrote this sentiment.

"The three strong periods in the life of the average young girl may be called 'having religion,' 'being stage-struck' and 'first love.' Each in its way has its compensations. Some girls realize but one of these, most of them two, and some the three, but I venture to say that none has escaped all of these. As to her adaptability to the stage, her associates and friends, in the desire to be agreeable, are inclined to flatter without really intending any harm, and thus create misapprehensions that may have a serious outcome."

"By 'having religion,' don't imagine I mean that faith that becomes a part of our lives, that helps us live and bear with the trials that living brings, but rather that period when we want to show how we could gladly die martyrs for our belief, or just as gladly kill others for not believing as we do."

"But it is to the girl in the stage-struck period this friendly advice is dedicated. Most girls realize in schools, arrange for or have home entertainments in which they have been assigned a part, and out of this very frequently occurs a girl's first illusion, as to her adaptability to the stage. Her associates and friends, in the desire to be agreeable, are inclined to flatter without really intending any harm, and thus create misapprehensions that may have a serious outcome."

Whether one is interested in electricity or not, one cannot but thoroughly enjoy the exhibition of what man can do with the mysterious and deathly power, presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week by Dr. McDonald.

The scenic stock company is also presenting an enjoyable comedy in "The Thief and the Rose," an interesting bit from the life story of a burglar admirably depicted by an augmented cast. Other good acts on the bill are those by Irene La Tour and her usual little pet dog "Zaza," Morgan & West, comedians of the best sort, and Miss Mae Monahan, a popular soloist.

There are also being presented at every performance moving pictures of the world's series baseball games, the best of the kind ever shown here.

On Sunday night come the performances of the second concert given at the theatre.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Lowell has never had any more popular actor than Wright Huntington, who is seen this week at Hathaway's theatre in a fascinating little comedy called "A Vision of the Night." Mr. Huntington is the same quiet, effective actor as of yore, and his vehicle is one calculated to please vaudeville goers. His supporting company is all that could be desired.

Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, two excellent singers, have a novel act, one primed with good singing. Mr. Wright is a tenor of more than average ability, while Miss Dietrich is the equal of any soprano we have had this season. The Great Lutz is a sharpshooter in an original fashion, doing all of his work with his feet. Vittorio and Georgetti are up side down performers par excellence; Kester and Lee are dancers with a bundle of national steps; William J. Morrissey sings and plays the piano well; Wilbert & Lealand are imported acrobats, and the show closes with motion pictures.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, with special seats at the matinees for women.

THEATRE VOYONS

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Still another crackerjack show at the Academy, Cummings & Gladdings, are a pair of very clever singers and dancers. Joe Brennan is a whole show in himself, and Harry L. # JUDGE PARKER

Says Cancer of Rooseveltism Should be Cut Out

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov. 4.—"Let us cut out the cancer of Rooseveltism," said former Judge Alton B. Parker, in a reply made here last night to what he called the "astounding" address of Senator Elihu Root, delivered last week at Carnegie hall, New York city.

"We learn that in this election," he continued, "thousands upon thousands of republicans and independents intend to vote a democratic ticket. We welcome their assistance and thank them to their appreciation that in this election there is a greater issue than the governorship of New York at stake. Let us cut out the cancer of Rooseveltism and—Mr. Root to the contrary notwithstanding—that once disposed of, our citizens can determine who shall be their president and the citizens of each state who will be their governor without fear of the threat that the strong hand will take possession of our government if we do not in this state accept the nominee."

And when we consider the past relations between them, the hollow and lack of sincerity in the suggestion that Mr. Root's recommendation by the republicans in 1912 is in any wise involved in a rejection of Mr. Roosevelt in the state of New York today, is clear.

"The argument is the customary one of a lawyer when he assures the jury that, if they find against his client, they will incidentally imperil their own interests in some other direction—when, for example, he bids them regard their oaths as furores and not convict his client, just as Mr. Root urges his republican associates to disregard their duty as citizens, lest something which he conveniently imagines as an evil shall befall the community at large. In other words, Mr. Root poses as the supporter of Mr. Taft but is in fact the secret advocate of Mr. Roosevelt. Nor is the first time when Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes trembled in the balance that Mr. Root the machiavelli of many a situation, has arisen to his aid. It is well to consider the source of an inspiration before we trust to its sincerity, and in the light of that which has preceded can be best estimated the inspiration underlying that which is presented.

"As we all know, Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes were once subjected to a great danger. Absolute extinguishment for all time in the political field confronted him. He had sworn an oath to avoid the payment of his personal taxes, and disqualified himself for the payment of his personal taxes and disqualified himself for the office of governor of the state. He had sworn that he was not a resident of this state, that he had become a resident of the District of Columbia, the city of Washington. As a matter of fact, having obtained through the personal efforts of his one-time friend Bellamy Storer the office of assistant secretary of the navy, he was temporarily an inhabitant of that city. That an office-holder in Washington gains no residence there but remains a resident and voter in his home, is common knowledge. From the president down, the incumbents of federal offices recruit from Washington to their homes to vote, and yet he (Roosevelt) had sworn that he had lost his residence in Oyster Bay and gained a residence in Washington and if he was

non-resident in this state he could not be its governor.

"At that moment his political future was at stake; indeed the man himself stood on the narrow edge of danger. He must be held to be a citizen of the state of New York or he could not become its governor. He could not be claimed to be a resident of the state of New York or his oath was false and the penalties of perjury before him. He called upon the subtle mind of Mr. Root to find the tortuous path that would turn and twist between these contradictions.

"The devious path was found for him. His affidavit had not included the word 'domicile' and so the republican convention accepted to the proposition that a non-resident of the state was domiciled therein and was a citizen thereof while at the same time a permanent resident in Washington, as well as temporary inhabitant there. Mr. Root's reward came later, and as secretary of state of the United States, he counseled and advised and so far as might be, rejoiced and controlled his client. And should Mr. Roosevelt, through the special pleading of Mr. Root he once more saved by adroit suggestion and artful adaptation of the facts, who can doubt that Mr. Root will be at the person's gratia to the twice saved Roosevelt?

"But let not any adherent of Mr. Taft delude himself with the belief that a vote for Mr. Stimson is a vote for Mr. Taft's renomination; it is a vote for Root and Roosevelt pure and simple. Nothing can impair Mr. Taft's personal prestige in his own party so greatly as a vote for the personal nominee of this private defamer. And who is this personal nominee of our Warwick, the new king-makers, who but the close associate, the partner, the locum tenens of the senior counsel for the defense and that same senior counsel for this defendant now at the bar of the people of the state, this same junior senator of ours, Mr. Root, gravely assures us that his junior associate, if only we will elect him governor, will dominate not alone his senior, the artful advocate himself, but even their joint client who lurks in the rear of their ambition.

"Mr. Root says that to defeat Mr. Roosevelt is to injure Mr. Taft's administration. Can any sane man believe that to endorse Mr. Roosevelt is to further Mr. Taft's interests? If the republican convention at Saratoga in its platform had sought to give Mr. Root an excuse for his argument, we have Mr. Roosevelt's own words that he would have opposed. Mr. Root also argues in his speech that it was because Mr. Roosevelt was right that he dominated the republican convention. He says the issue was a revolt against the tyranny of party machines, and he points out that Mr. Roosevelt holds no office and had no patronage to bestow; whence he argues republicans should be grateful to him.

"But Mr. Root forgets that every delegate at Saratoga fully appreciated that, if whenever Mr. Roosevelt might produce as a candidate were elected, Mr. Roosevelt would have patronage and, as Mr. Root puts it, the power to punish or reward. Mr. Root further fails to appreciate that if the Saratoga convention were in revolt against the corrupt republican machine, so is the present revolt of the republicans voters a revolt against the Roosevelt machine. Adopt Mr. Root's arguments and it is apparent that the republican voters' duty is but half done.

"Also, Mr. Root minimizes Mr. Roosevelt's continual denunciation of judges and courts with glittering generalities and with generalities still more glittering, smooths over Mr. Roosevelt's new nationalism. Of the latter, he says he knows not wherein it consists. Let him read the debate that preceded the adoption of the constitution and inform himself. Not one of the doctrines fatal to the continued existence of liberty in this country, which Mr. Roosevelt has tricked forth in new phrase, will he fail to find there. And let him reflect that it is but those judges and only those courts that stand between us and the enforcement of those doctrines which would destroy us and which can be summarized as the extension of the personal power of the chief executive—which God forbid his client may ever again be."

Covers buildings in every part of the world. You will find it in Japan—you will see it in Russia. It protects buildings in Alaska. It covers houses on the plains of South Africa. It is used extensively in Australia. Thousands of rolls have been shipped into China. You see it in nearly every South American port. Is very popular in Canada—roofs the best buildings in every large Western City. The magnificent buildings of the Alaska Yukon Pacific Exposition were covered with it. The St. Francis and Fairmont Hotels in San Francisco are protected by it.

Malthoid has a world wide reputation. This is so because it is the original ready roofing. Its makers have been making ready roofings for twenty-six years.

You ask how we can do this just at the beginning of the Overcoat season—it does sound unreasonable—but this is how it happened—the fabrics were bought from one of the world's best mills, underprice and tailored for us during the in-between seasons—The Merrimack is always quoted as selling the best $15 Overcoat in New England. This year we found it impossible for any of our wholesalers to produce an all wool kersey coat up to the Merrimack standard at less than $20. Therefore we went out on our own hook with the money in our jeans, to buy for cash, enough goods to make 500 overcoats—We succeeded in getting only enough goods for 259 coats—and here they are for you today at $15.00.

FOSS RALLY

fast, not only in the finance committee, but in the senate, for all the iniquities of schedule K.

"You say, Senator Lodge, that this schedule K was not what it should have been, but I do not find that at any time you raised your voice in protest at the provisions you know to be unjust, and which imposed a hardship upon the great mass of the people.

"Why didn't you, with your convincing oratory that you can so readily use in denouncing a political opponent, raise your voice in indignant protest against these schedules that President Taft says are 'indefensible'?"

"What kept you silent?"

Explanation a Miserable Failure

"The public doesn't forget, Senator

Lodge, that the worsted trust, which is largely a Massachusetts affair, profited tremendously by your votes on the schedules and that the heads of that trust are among your staunchest supporters today.

"And so Senator Lodge is reduced to the pitiable explanation that he voted to keep the wool tariff outrage on $9,000,000 people for fear he would not get a commerce court and a worthless maximum and minimum provision and a tariff board that hasn't any sanction in law.

"Your constituents will not be satisfied with that explanation, Senator Lodge. They will accept it as proof of the bargain between republican stand-patters, and moreover, they will rightfully accept your explanation as strong evidence that you were a party to that nefarious political bargain.

"Senator Lodge has failed miserably to explain his vote for schedule K. He has not even tried to explain his silence on that question in the senate.

Senator Lodge says, he 'thought the woolen schedule should be modified and improved.' But the damning fact in Senator Lodge's case is that he kept silence in the senate when the bill was under consideration.

Protection Costs $51,000,000

"Have the senators from the wool-growing states gained such control over senators from a state represented by a Webster and a Sumner that they not only forced Senator Lodge to vote against his convictions but actually cowed him into silence? Will Massachusetts submit to such shameful misrepresentation?"

"Senator Lodge dodges my request for information regarding the details of schedule K and tries to escape by quoting an editorial by Ex-Gov. Guild, who is another victim of the wool-silence disease.

"One word more on schedule K. As is usual just before election Senator Lodge is shedding real crocodile tears for fear the working man will not be protected by a republican tariff. He says the woolen and worsted mills of Massachusetts turn out $102,833,803 worth of goods a year, and that the wages paid in those mills is $18,817,197. Let us do a little figuring.

"A few nights ago the president of the American Woolen company publicly stated that the $48,000,000 worth of woolen and worsted goods made by his company could be bought abroad for half that amount, that is, for about $24,000,000. On that basis, the $102,000,000 worth of goods mentioned by Senator Lodge could be bought abroad for $51,000,000.

"In other words the American people are paying a tax of $51,000,000 a year in order, by Senator Lodge's admission, to protect workmen who receive $18,000,000 a year in wages. Was there ever a more complete exposure of the pretense that the republican wool and wool goods tariff is primarily for protection to the workmen? It is primarily for the protection of the worsted trust.

"Senator Lodge and the worsted manufacturers stood shoulder to shoulder last year in maintaining the woolen schedule without change. It is fitting that of this time of their election they should admit the truth, it is for you voters to say on Tuesday next whether this alliance of the special interests and the senators of Massachusetts shall continue."

To Reduce Cost of Living

Mr. Foss said he was building cotton mill; he believed in the cotton business and that it did not need so much protection. With a reduction in the tariff they could command the markets of the world, the high cost of living would be reduced, the purchasing power of the dollar would be increased. The wages of the cotton industry are too low and with a lower tariff we can increase our output and increase our wages by controlling foreign markets.

"Republicans Are Beaten"

"The high cost of living is due to the high tariff. They can't dodge facts. They may squirm and explain and defend, and they are doing all three, or trying to, but they make no headway for the store bills of the people tell the story.

"The tariff was revised by its friends, but unfortunately for the people, by its too intimate friends."

"The wives and mothers who do the buying for the family are receiving daily lessons that no revision downward has been made. The women of Massachusetts and of the whole country today realize that the burdens of living, instead of having been lightened, have been made more heavy."

"The republican leaders know that they are defeated. They are trying by misrepresentation, by playing cynicism on the prejudices of the people and by false and misleading conclusions not in any way justified by facts to keep down the democratic majority."

"But they will fail. Massachusetts will repudiate them and the Payne-

Aldrich act by so decisive a majority that the whole nation will realize that and others.

Mr. Foss was again wildly cheered as he concluded. Accompanied by Mr. O'Sullivan, he immediately repaired to city hall, where 3000 men spoke loose in pandemonium of applause as Mr. O'Sullivan introduced Mr. Foss as the next governor of Massachusetts. Mr. Foss spoke on the high cost of living and then departed amid cheers for the C. M. A. C.

Thomas P. Riley

Meanwhile, the rally continued in Mathew hall in expectation of the arrival of Thomas P. Cassidy, candidate for lieutenant governor, Col. J. H. Carmichael and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston.

Rep. Thomas P. Riley of Malden, the leader of the democratic minority in the house and one of its ablest speakers, was next introduced and he gave an address that aroused the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch.

Philip Kiley, candidate for senator in the seventh district, spoke on the legislative record of his opponent, Senator Bennett.

Edward F. Tierney spoke on the congressional campaign and the bright outlook for Col. Carmichael.

Major Robert J. Crowley was the concluding speaker, and he advocated strongly the election of the entire state ticket.

The rally adjourned with cheers for the entire ticket and shortly afterward Cassidy arrived in an auto from Lawrence, having been delayed on account of the rough roads. Mr. Cassidy was taken to the Washington club, where he was entertained for the night. Col. Carmichael did not return from Lawrence until midnight.

On the platform were Hon. John C. Burke, Hon. E. N. Foss, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Rep. Thomas P. Riley of Malden, Thomas W. Nolan of Somerville, Mayor Meehan, Major Robert J. Crowley, J. Joseph Hennessy, Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, James E. O'Donnell, John W. McEvoy, Police Commissioner John J. Mullane, John W. Daly, James H. Rogers, candidate for representative in the 14th district, Thomas J. Johnson, Edward F. Tierney, Joseph L. Martin, James J. Irwin, of Everett, Hon. John E. Drury, Philip

last night an audience taxing the capacity of the city hall awaited the arrival of Congressman Eugene N. Foss, and then gave him so hearty a welcome that he declared that the victory was already won and it was only a question of what the democratic majority would be on Tuesday. He had been delayed in reaching

FRANK J. GOULD BURNED AT STAKE

Is Reported to be Married
Mexican Admitted He Killed Woman

EDINBURGH, Nov. 4.—According to the Scotsman, Frank J. Gould of New York was married at Edinburgh on Oct. 29.

In making the announcement the Scotsman says: "The lady, singularly enough, bears the same name and surname as Mr. first wife."

In the entry in the sheriff's record, however, the names given are simply Gould's first wife and her name. The ceremony, which followed the Scottish procedure—a simple declaration before witnesses and the sheriff—was conducted with great secrecy. After the marriage the couple went to Abbotsford, the former home of Sir Walter Scott, which Mr. Gould recently acquired as a residence.

Frank J. Gould's first wife was Miss Helen Kelly, a daughter of the late Edward Kelly of New York. The marriage took place in 1901. Mrs. Helen Kelly Gould was granted a divorce in May, 1902. She was married to Ralph H. Thomas in New York last July, and the couple sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for a two months' honeymoon abroad.

Frank J. Gould and Edith Kelly, an actress, formerly on the New York stage, who have been much together, lately sailed on the steamer Mauretania in September for Europe. Mr. Gould when questioned regarding his reported marriage to Miss Kelly was non-committal. According to recent despatches from London, however, Mr. Gould and Miss Kelly had arranged to have a marriage ceremony performed according to the rites of that country.

PLENTY OF RAIN

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Southeastern New England received another much needed bath last night and today through the good offices of a storm from the Bahamas which drenched the thirsty land with .38 of an inch of rain up to 8 a. m. The fall, coupled with about the same amount on Wednesday night, was more than welcomed, although the effect on the springs, streams and rivers was scarcely noticeable so low has the drought sucked them.

The storm was a fairly lively one off the coast, the wind speeding up to 56 miles an hour at Block Island and 48 miles at Narragansett. Both islands reported a heavy rainfall. The gale here during the night was not over 36 miles an hour.

QUESON RE-ELECTED

MANILA, Nov. 4.—The assembly today unanimously re-elected Manuel Queson delegate to congress. The assembly refused to elect Benito Legarda, whom the commission had named as the second congressional delegate.

It is expected that the assembly Philippine commission were deadlocked on the matter of the representation at Washington as it had been customary for each house to name one delegate.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brookfield, Mo.—"Two years ago I was unable to do any kind of work and only weighed 118 pounds. My trouble dates back to the time that women may expect nature to bring on them the Change of Life. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel much better, and I have continued its use. I am very grateful to you for the good health I am now enjoying."—Mrs. SARAH LOUISIANA, 414 S. Livingston St., Brookfield, Mo.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache and nervous prostration.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made exclusively from roots and herbs.

JIMMY QUINLAN

Was Disposed of In Five Rounds

LAWRENCE, Nov. 4.—Mickey McIntyre of St. John, N. B., required only five rounds to dispose of Jimmy Quinlan of Danvers at the Unity C. C. last evening. The bout was scheduled to go 12 rounds, but McIntyre landed some hard uppercuts in the first and second rounds which showed up the Danvers boy, who looked somewhat overtrained.

In the fourth round Quinlan took the count of nine several times and shortly after the opening of the fifth McIntyre got in some effective swings to Quinlan's head which floored the latter. The referee then awarded the decision to McIntyre.

In the semi-final eight rounds Johnny Gallant of Boston and Kid O'Brien of Lawrence went to a draw. Young Rockwell of Lawrence defeated Kid Fitzgerald in a six round bout, and Young Norton defeated Young McAuliffe in six rounds.

Conditions now are normal and no further disorder is anticipated.

WATER FAMINE

Threatened in Town of Lee

LEE, Nov. 4.—This town is threatened with a water famine. Greenwater pond, which supplies the manufacturing establishment, is so low as to be no longer available and the plants are using steam for power. Laurel lake, the other source of supply, has nearly reached the minimum of low pressure. As a result of the scarcity water sufficient for the needs of only one-half of the townspeople can be utilized.

BOSTON LAWYER

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 4.—The loyalty of the Portuguese subjects in New England to the new republic of Portugal is the keynote of a message borne to Provisional President Braga at Lisbon by Joseph P. Escobar, a well known Portuguese resident of this city. Mr. Escobar also will make a plea for a change in the new republic's consular representation in the New England states.

Dr. Monteiro of Boston, a Portuguese lawyer and editor, is supported by the Portuguese liberals of New England as the candidate for the consular generalship of the New England states. The agents of Dr. Monteiro assert that he has many intimate friends connected with the republican government at Lisbon and that on that account his recommendations will be given more attention than those of the present consular general, who, according to the liberals in New England, is a representative of the monarchy that has just been overthrown. Mr. Escobar will also urge changes in the vice consuls at New Bedford, Fall River and Lowell. Mr. Escobar himself has been selected by the Portuguese liberals of New England as a candidate for the vice consularship at this port.

Mr. Escobar's trip is financed by the Portuguese residents of New England.

CUTTERS ARE IDLE

BROOKFIELD, Nov. 4.—The local shoe industry is experiencing a depression. The cutters in the factory of the Boston-Moulton Shoe Co. have been laid off but their idleness, it is thought, will be of short duration. The Thanksgiving season is expected to witness a resumption of activity in the trade.

MRS. TENNY DEAD

POLITICAL NOTES

Congressman McGillicuddy Here Tonight

"Massachusetts is the parent of Maine, for God's sake don't go back on your child, but vote the democratic ticket from top to bottom!"

Such was the party appeal of Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy to the democratic voters of Lawrence, last night.

Congressman McGillicuddy is in Lowell today as the guest of Col. J. H. Carmichael and will address three rallies in this city tonight in the interest of the candidacy of Col. Carmichael.

The rallies will be held at Matthew hall, Lincoln hall and the Keyes' auction rooms.

Congressman McGillicuddy is one of the foremost political speakers in the east and all should hear him. Col. Carmichael and other local speakers will address the rallies.

Carmichael at Lawrence

Among the speakers at the democratic rally in Lawrence last evening was Col. James H. Carmichael of this city, the democratic congressional candidate who in his speech stated that although Butler Ames had received $65,000 for the services that he had rendered the public, the only thing which he could mention in an account of his stewardship was the feeble attempt that he had made at covering schedule K, the wool schedule, in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and which he finally voted for as it stood.

Col. Carmichael also said: "Congressman Ames does not mention that when he was in the Massachusetts legislature he voted against the hour bill. He could not vote to help the little boys and the girls in the mills. That man appeals to you for votes. Is he the kind of a man you want? If he won't protect the children, he won't protect the fathers. It makes no difference to him what are the costs of the necessities of life. He voted against the peaceful picketing bill and against inheritance taxes. He voted for Cannon four different times. He voted for that iniquitous tariff bill you have heard denounced tonight. I want you to vote for man and measures as they did in Maine."

James J. Irwin, democratic candidate for the office of district attorney, will speak at the Washington tavern tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and at city hall at 4.30 o'clock.

VOTERS OF MASSACHUSETTS

Compare the Parties and Their Leaders

HON. EBEN S. DRAPER, Governor of Massachusetts.

GOVERNOR DRAPER'S SPLENDID RECORD

Honorable Eben S. Draper is now completing his second year as Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and he has just been called on for the third time to stand as the Republican candidate for Governor.

Governor Draper has been faithful to his trust.

He has been courageous, fearless and far-sighted, impartial and just.

He has been mindful of the business interests of the Commonwealth.

He has been fair to organized labor, to organized capital, and to the unorganized public.

He has been broad-minded in all things.

His administration has attracted the attention of the whole country.

He has settled the great problems of his administration in the interests of the people.

Massachusetts, under his wise and sagacious leadership has gone forward, and has maintained her supremacy—a supremacy that might easily have been lost.

Governor Draper has given the people of Massachusetts what they asked for and what they needed—a business administration. His second year of administration closes with the people of the Commonwealth generally employed, with new mills in process of construction in different parts of the Commonwealth, and with the condition of the savings banks of the State such as to indicate a prosperous and thrifty people.

THE MAN IN FRONT AND THE MEN BEHIND THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

What Boston City Bosses Did at the Democratic State Convention

HEADING REPRODUCED FROM BOSTON GLOBE, OCT. 7, 1910

"DEMOCRATS END BIG ROW BY NOMINATING MANSFIELD"

HEADING REPRODUCED FROM BOSTON AMERICAN, OCT. 7, 1910

"DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

HEADING REPRODUCED FROM BOSTON POST, OCT. 7, 1910

"Convention Turned Into Wild Riot Thayer Calls Police to Stop Fights"

FROM THE BOSTON POST (DEMOCRATIC), OCT. 15, 1910

The Democratic Party in this State is demoralized and disorganized. Eugene N. Foss has been declared to be the choice of the Democratic Party for Governor after the Democrats were unable to agree upon a candidate at their convention, in which fist fights were frequent and rioting was the rule.

How can any self-respecting citizen vote for Mr. Foss, who has secured the nomination for Governor from Democratic Bosses in Boston?

Your vote for Foss for Governor means your vote to deliver the control of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts into the hands of the FITZGERALD-LOMASNEY political machine.

THE TARIFF AND THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The high cost of living cannot truthfully be charged to the TARIFF because on EVERY article of food on the table in the average household the tariff has been reduced in the Payne Bill or remains unchanged. Here is the TRUTH about the tariff:

Bacon and Hams.....Tariff Reduced 20 Per Cent.
Beans.....Tariff Not Changed
Beef.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Butter and Milk.....Tariff Not Changed on Dairy Products
Cane Sugar above 16, all Refined Sugars.....Tariff Reduced 2½ Per Cent.
Cabbages.....Tariff Reduced 33 1-3 Per Cent.
Corn Meal.....Tariff Reduced 5 Per Cent.
Eggs.....Tariff Not Changed

Flour.....Tariff Not Changed
Lard.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Mutton and Lamb.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Peas (dried).....Tariff Reduced 16 2-3 Per Cent.
Peas (in bulk).....Tariff Reduced 37½ Per Cent.
Pork.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.
Potatoes.....Tariff Not Changed
Salt (in bags, etc.).....Tariff Reduced 8 1-3 Per Cent. to 8½ Per Cent.
Veal.....Tariff Reduced 25 Per Cent.

The only articles of food on which the tariff was increased over the Dingley rates are, Pineapples, Figs, Lemons, Dates, Chicory, Buckwheat Flour and Grapes in bulk. The rate was also increased on Wines and Liquors.

GOVERNOR DRAPER SAYS:

"Of the Democratic candidate for Governor, Mr. Foss, I will say that his record of performance in public office is a blank. His public record as a candidate for public office in both parties is well known. When a Republican he tried to rule or ruin, and failed in both. As a Democrat he has tried to rule or ruin, and has succeeded in both."

Governor Draper Holds Sacred the Welfare of Massachusetts

No man ever held the chair of authority on Beacon Hill in higher respect than Governor Draper. In all his addresses to the Legislature and to the people throughout the Commonwealth the keynote has been sincerity. In the making of appointments to office he has utterly freed himself from personal considerations and friendships, as he has practically abandoned entirely all private business to give his time and attention to the work of the State. No governor has worked harder in or out of his office at the State House for the welfare of the people of Massachusetts than has he. He has believed most strongly in the constitutional provision which keeps apart the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, and there has been no interference with the legislature or courts on his part. He has believed insistently in the intelligence of the people of Massachusetts. He believes that no matter what has happened around and about us that Massachusetts will continue to lead and never follow.

John E. Redmond Addressed Big Meeting at Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4.—In Parsons' theatre here last night John E. Redmond, leader of the movement for home rule for Ireland, delivered an address which was rewarded by subscriptions and pledges which will be added to the general fund as a mark of Hartford's sympathy for Ireland.

The Charles J. Kichham branch of the United Irish league and other local Irish societies escorted Mr. Redmond, who was met at Springfield and accompanied by attorneys Henry J. Higgins and Thomas J. Molloy. At Union station the party, which included Mrs. Redmond, was met by Mayor Edward L. Smith of Hartford and President William J. A. Mahon of the local league branch.

Mayor Smith presided last night and among the speakers was Frank A. Higgins, postmaster of Hartford. Today Mr. Redmond and his party will see Hartford on an automobile trip and later he will go to New York to sail Saturday on the Celtic. He will be accompanied to New York by T. B. Fitzpatrick, treasurer, and John O'Callaghan, secretary of the United Irish League of America.

After explaining, as he has in his 35 previous addresses, the needs of Ireland of today, Mr. Redmond continued: "Never have I experienced such enthusiasm as has greeted me in six or seven of your larger cities on this tour. Everywhere I have found the leading statesmen of all parties coming around me and repeating what one of your most famous citizens once said to me, 'I have never met an American who was hostile to the Irishman's claim for self-government.'

"I desire here tonight to return my most grateful thanks to all American citizens, business men, lawyers, professors and craftsmen for their cordial support and especially to the press of America."

this direction as the welfare of the state demands.

My early struggles in life as a mechanic and my association with wage earners have perhaps put me more closely in sympathy with working people and with industrial problems than my State street friends, and given me a more sincere faith in the industrial stability of our city and our commonwealth.

And this is the reason why I am a borrower of capital—as I hope I shall always be as long as I live. I borrowed money to rebuild the great Sturtevant works at Hyde Park, which include nearly twelve acres of floor space and give employment to fifteen hundred men; also for the Becker Milling Machine Co., which gives employment to about five hundred more. I have also borrowed money to assist in building cotton mills in Fall River and New Bedford, and I borrowed most to build the new Maverick mills at East Boston, which will be in operation in a few days and which are to give immediate employment to 1000 or 1200 operatives, with ultimate employment to 5000 when the projected enterprise is complete.

I count upon the success of this last enterprise to afford a final and most conclusive demonstration to State street, that capital can be safely and profitably employed at home, and with vastly more safety if industrial conditions are made what they should be after all these years of neglect by our standard republican friends.

Give us right conditions here in New England. We have a right to demand them. And then more people will borrow money for the purpose for which I borrow it; what property, which is now rotting, and real estate, which is a drug on the market, will be in demand, and Massachusetts will regain her industrial supremacy.

But I have a confession to make. I have not always kept as steadfastly as I do now to the somewhat narrow avenues of Massachusetts enterprise. It was at the suggestion of Col. Higginson that I borrowed money, as doubtless others did also, to invest through his house, in the Consolidated Rubber Tire Co. of Philadelphia, and their other foreign ventures, which I will not enumerate and with results which, on this particular occasion, because of my deep regard for Col. Higginson, I will not state. But it is perhaps to these same experiences that I owe my increasing determination to limit my business efforts and resources more and more to Massachusetts.

A LIFE SENTENCE

For Slayer of Factory Girl

WORCESTER, Nov. 4.—Upon his plea of guilty of murder in the second degree Sebastiano Santasia, the slayer of Giovanni Manzoni, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state prison at Charlestown by Judge Sanderson in the superior criminal court here yesterday. He was indicted for murder in the first degree but the court accepted his plea of guilty of second degree murder.

Santasia is an Italian and his victim was an Armenian. Both were employed in a manufacturing plant here. On June 11 last the men had a quarrel at the factory and Santasia was discharged. He went to lodgings, secured a revolver and returning to the vicinity of the factory lay in hiding until Manzoni came out for his noonday meal, when he shot him to death. Santasia is about 30 years of age.

A CURT RETORT

By Which Foss Hits Col. Higginson

My old friend Col. Higginson expressed some sentiment at Gov. Dwyer's dinner last night, to which my earnest attention has been given because of my long standing and sincere regard for him. Like all the rest of the Old Guard in Massachusetts, Col. Higginson stands in the highest esteem within the financial circles of State street. His willingness to do a good turn for any friend is untiring and there are few for whom he has done more than he has for me.

I shall never forget my feelings of gratitude when he called me into his private office one day some years ago and told me of a letter which he had written a few days before to Mr. Vice-tor Morowitz, then chairman of the board of directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. Col. Higginson knowing of my large interest had of his own volition and without my knowledge recommended me for the position of director of that great corporation, as a representative of the New England interests which he largely controlled.

So the public can see that I have every reason, on personal grounds, aside from the public services which the colonel has rendered, to hold him in warmest regard.

Now turning to financial matters for a moment, I frankly admit that I am a borrower of money, and always have been. I am using, right here in Massachusetts, all the capital at my command to build up the industries of Massachusetts. This is in accord with my inflexible policy which I have pursued for thirty years. I have always been convinced that there was no safer and better investment for capital than in our home industries, and I greatly regret that the financial interests of State street, represented by Col. Higginson, are not as zealous in

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOSS RALLY

here from Lowell and it was 10 o'clock before he appeared upon the platform. Mayor Fitzgerald was half an hour later in arriving from Haverhill.

It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic democratic rallies in years. Congressman Foss declared that the republican party had gone back on its promises so many times that the people had lost confidence and had turned to the democrats for relief. The democratic party, he asserted, stood for privilege and equal opportunity.

As he was about to conclude, a man in the audience, who said that he was an indorser of the speaker's principles, inquired what assurance the voters had if the democrats won against a repetition of the dull times which followed the passage of the tariff bill which President Cleveland allowed to become a law without his signature.

The gubernatorial candidate asserted that Cleveland had done right under the circumstances, as he could not sign the bill and retain his personal honor. The bill, he said, was better law than the one which had been in effect.

"Isn't the present measure better than the Dingley bill?" continued the questioner.

"No," was the response, "The Dingley bill had some measure of reality, but under this one there is none, and instead we have retaliation. The Payne-Aldrich bill was framed and enacted in the interest of the monopoly and had no interest for the great mass of the people."

The reply of the speaker met with hearty applause.

Mayor Fitzgerald, whose introduction was a signal for hearty greeting, while a chorus in the wings sang "Sweet Adeline," took up the question further and declared that the panic of 1893 was not caused by the Wilson tariff.

CUTTING WON'T REMOVE THE CAUSE OF PILES

Piles mean more than merely the pain of the stubborn little tumors. There is a condition inside that must be dealt with. Cutting is usually followed with later and worse attacks. A permanent cure can only be made by bettering the condition of the parts and getting a free circulation of the blood.

Hem-Roid cures all kinds of piles by internal action right on the cause. Sold by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., and money back if it fails. $1 per bottle. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y.

in bill, but rather by the failure of the crops that year and the two years previous.

Congressman McGillicuddy of Maine, Senator Cassidy, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Charles D. Smith, candidate for district attorney, were earlier speakers. A parade with a band and a reception in the common council chamber preceded the rally.

FOSS AT HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Nov. 4.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings that has ever assembled at city hall greeted Eugene N. Foss and Thos. F. Cassidy at the democratic rally last night, many being unable to gain admittance.

A conservative estimate was that 1500 people were crowded into the hall which has seating capacity for 1000 people. The aisles, corridors and ante-rooms were filled.

The rally was the largest held by the democrats here since the days of Gov. Russell and enthusiasm was on top from the time that the speakers appeared on the platform until after Mr. Foss, who was the last speaker, concluded.

Daniel H. Maguire presided, and when he introduced Thomas F. Cassidy, the party candidate for lieutenant governor, as the first speaker, the latter was cheered warmly. Mr. Cassidy attacked the labor record of his opponent, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, pointing out that he had always opposed legislative measures favorable to the workingman.

Representative Wm. H. O'Brien of Boston, a former resident of this city, and the democratic candidate for congress in the 6th district, referred to the opposition of Congressman Gardner to labor legislation. He also argued that the re-election of Gardner meant the approval of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

While Mr. O'Brien was speaking, Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston arrived, and as he appeared on the stage the audience enthusiastically cheered while the band played "Sweet Adeline."

In his address Mayor Fitzgerald referred to the resources of the country, stating that even with them, 47 per cent of the working people were only earning $5 a week, while only 11 per cent of the 15,000,000 were getting more than $12. He said that the republicans had been in power for 42 out of the last 50 years and he maintained that the republicans were responsible for the conditions that now exist.

Charles D. Smith of Gloucester, the candidate for district attorney, advised his hearers to vote the entire democratic ticket as a protest against the office to which he aspired being used for political purposes, as he accused the republicans of doing.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when Eugene N. Foss, candidate for governor, arrived by auto from Lawrence, yet the enthusiasm of the audience did not lessen in the least and he was given an ovation by the crowd that remained to the close of his address.

LARGE DIVIDEND

Declared by New Bedford Mill

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 4.—The stockholders of the Acushnet mill corporation received in yesterday's mail, circulars announcing that the directors of the mill had decided to declare a stock dividend of 100 per cent on all the stock now outstanding.

The market was generally unprepared for the announcement. In the letter the stockholders are told that owing to the small capital as compared with the actual value of its property, the dividends paid upon its stock give an erroneous impression of the real profits, and for this reason the directors have decided that the valuations should be increased and new shares issued, making the capital of the corporation $1,000,000.

The question of whether the management of the mill would continue to pay the usual dividends upon the new issue began to be asked on all sides.

With the stock paying a dividend of 100 per cent, it has been quoted in the open market in the neighborhood of $350 a share, and from the fact that there has been no unusual demand for the security, the more conservative investors of the city do not feel inclined to believe that the new stock will come in for the same dividend.

BESIDE TRACKS

Body of Vaselios Evangelon Found Today

The bruised body of Vaselios Evangelon, aged 35 years, residing at 112 Common street, was found lying beside the Boston and Maine tracks, in the rear of the Boston and Northern power house, at an early hour this morning by a yard hand of the B. & N.

The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, where it was identified later by friends. The body was not badly mangled and the indications are that the man had been struck a glancing blow by a passing engine. At just what time the fatality occurred none can tell. Evangelon leaves a wife and seven sons in Greece.

"You've got the cleverest Overcoats in town, and I've seen them all" ...

We've heard that many times from men who have investigated—who come to be shown. Now we want YOU to know it.

Maybe you are one of those who argue that the best place to buy any garment is where the greatest number is shown.

It doesn't follow that the best choosing or the fairest prices are in the biggest stock. Some stores rely entirely on SIZE for their strength.

The Smart Clothes Shop shows as clever overcoats as you'll find anywhere—not as many as some stores, but the cream of the market at the prices covered—at $15.00 and up to $30.00.

The D. S. O'Brien Co. are clothes specialists—featuring clothes of high character—displaying expert taste in the selection of fabrics and models, and intelligent service in the selling—withal, pricing every garment reasonably.

to greet Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, and to listen to a discussion of national issues by Chas. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor. It was the first big republican rally in Albany this campaign and the audience filled Harnhamus Bleeker hall from orchestra to gallery. William Barnes, Jr., leader of the "Old Guard" forces, which were defeated at the Saratoga convention by the progressives under Colonel Roosevelt's leadership, occupied a box. Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who also played an important part in the "Old Guard's" fight against direct nomination at the Saratoga convention, was one of the speakers last night in behalf of Mr. Stimson.

A reference to the administration of Governor Hughes by City Comptroller Howard Fuller, who presided, was vociferously applauded. This applause was repeated when Secretary Nagel mentioned President Taft. But the greatest outburst aside from that which greeted the arrival of Mr. Stimson, occurred when Mr. Nagel spoke of Col. Roosevelt.

Secretary Nagel was the first speaker at last night's meeting. "I do not come here authorized to say this thing or that thing," he said by way of introduction, "but I am here to speak my own mind on national issues. The result in this state is bound to be of great importance to the nation. If you ask me about 1912 I say that isn't the question because our country has a president who is not staying awake nights to try to find out how nominations are to be made in 1912."

Secretary Nagel said he had not seen or heard anything to make him depart from the conviction that in a political campaign in which the policy of the country was involved it was best to stay with the discussion of principles and to steer away as far as conditions admitted, from an engagement in personal controversy.

Above all, he emphasized, it should be borne in mind that important as local issues might be, the ability of the national administration to carry out its pledges and to cope with the problems that were presented to it, was now to be fortified or weakened. The question, he declared, was whether or not this administration should be given the fullest opportunity to fulfill those pledges which found definite and precise expression in the last national platform.

There was a disposition among the opponents of the republican party, he said, to contrast the present administration with the last and have it appear that even in some respects they stood in antagonism to each other. This, he declared, was far from the truth. The last administration rendered a service of incalculable value in bringing the public mind to a realization of questions and problems with which this country was confronted. It was needless at this time, he pointed out, to urge that a condition of things had arisen which called for a strong hand and an unwavering personality such as Colonel Roosevelt to bring them to public attention for answer. So much having been done, the time came, he said, when it was for the government to formulate those promises and to cast them into permanent shape. Instead of contrasting two administrations, he continued, it ought to be realized that in point of fact they completely complemented each other. Mr. Nagel next analyzed the accomplishments of the present federal administration. He went deeply into the tariff admitting that not much was accomplished as had been hoped for, but pointing out that substantial progress had been made and the continuance of republican administration meant that this progress would be continued while the pining of a democratic administration in power would

of Foss.Thomas F. Cassidy, democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, is the son of a Union soldier whose constitution was ruined in Libby prison and who died at an early age as a result of his sufferings. The son of such a father may well be entrusted with a responsible position in the service of the state. He will make an able assistant to Governor Foss in administering the affairs of the state.

COL. ROOSEVELT EXPLAINS

It is amusing to find Col. Roosevelt in New York state trying to convince the large audiences that there is no danger in "Rooseveltism." The tide of public sentiment is evidently turning against him since republicans are working for the election of Dix, the democratic nominee, in order to revoke Roosevelt and prevent the possibility of his nomination in 1912.
Col. Roosevelt explains that he has nothing to take back in regard to his new nationalism.

A SCURRILOUS POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

The republican agencies that are sending out Governor Draper's political advertising have descended to a species of scurrility such as was never to our knowledge resorted to by the republican party of this state on any former occasion.In the page advertisement that has been published in most of the newspapers of the state and which appears in this issue, Governor Draper or somebody for him endeavors to prejudice the voters against Mr. Foss so that they will not vote for him. But this resort to scurrility and unfair tactics will defeat its purpose and have the opposite effect, to wit, to strengthen the support of Mr. Foss at the polls.The governor in this advertisement undertakes to do three things:
(1) to defend the tariff against the charge that it has increased the cost of living. (2) to defend his own administration, and (3) to blacken and defame the democratic candidate.It may not have occurred to the writer of this advertisement that he has set before him a very difficult task. His defense of the tariff is weak and unconvincing.Let it be understood at the outset that the Dingley tariff was excessively high and that the republicans promised a revision downward not upward.Instead, however, of carrying out this pledge to the people the republican party deliberately revised the tariff upward. By that is meant that the average of all the schedules was increased in the Payne-Aldrich law.The democratic claim in regard to the tariff is, that it has increased the cost of living while Senator Lodge, Governor Draper and some other republicans hold that the tariff has not increased the cost of living.
Governor Draper in his effort to refute the democratic contention on this point asserts that on every article of food on the table of the average householder the tariff has been either reduced to left unchanged.Among the articles on which the tariff is unchanged are eggs, beans, potatoes, flour, milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products.These are articles on which the tariff was already too high and on which a reduction would have helped to lessen the cost of living. That was probably why no reduction was made.But the high cost of living does not depend solely upon the price of food.The cost of clothing, building materials and household articles must also be considered. These Governor Draper, very wisely for his own ease, passes over unnoticed.

How about the schedule on woolen dress goods?

When a woman purchases $10 worth of woolen dress goods the value of the goods is represented by $4.87 and the tariff tax $5.13. This is because the Payne-Aldrich tariff impost is 105 per cent. ad valorem. In other words on each dollar's worth of goods imported the new tariff law levies a tariff tax of $1.05. The tax on blankets is 107 per cent., flannels 40 cents a yard or 144 per cent.Why did Governor Draper in his advertisement evade these important figures if he wanted to enlighten the voters upon the issues of the campaign?Do not these things affect the cost of living? There are many other matters equally vital to the householder but which were passed over in silence by the governor for reasons that the public will readily realize.Next, this advertisement of Governor Draper essays an elaborate defense of his record, but it does not mention the eight-hour law, nor for the very best of reasons does it once mention the word "economy."His Excellency makes no claim to conducting an economic administration, nor could he sustain such a claim for the reason that the state expenditures jumped from $12,739,650.35 in 1908 to $14,946,010.28 in 1910, an increase of $2,206,359.93.Will Governor Draper please explain the necessity of this large increase which amounts to very close on to 20 per cent?The governor says he has given the people what they wanted—a business administration. If that be so, the business administrations come high.Now with regard to the scurrilous matter and entreaties culled from sensational papers in Boston relative to the democratic state convention, we believe the governor's agents made a mistake in descending to such scurrility.The charge is freely made in the republican advertisement referred to, that a vote for Foss is a vote to place the control of the commonwealth in the hands of Boston political bosses. That is a grave injustice to Mr.
Foss, and it grossly misrepresents the man, his reputation and his aims.There is nothing in Mr. Foss's record to sustain any such charge, and we believe that such tactics will injure rather than help the cause of Governor Draper. The advertisement is one of the things that will help to roll up a big majority for Mr. Foss.

RIFLE PRACTICE

MAY BE MADE BIENNIAL AF-FAIRSWASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—There is considerable quiet talk as to the advisability of making the national rifle matches a biennial affair instead of holding them yearly. That they have been a tremendous factor in arousing interest in shooting throughout all branches of the military service and the national guard is not doubted. Since they were instituted by an act of congress appropriating money for the national trophy, medals and prizes, congress has increased the appropriation for the national guards from one to two million dollars annually, with the understanding that $500,000 of this appropriation was to be expended in rifle practice. Out of this money the expenses of the teams for the national match are paid. In many cases these expenses constitute a very formidable drain on the state's treasury. Especially is this the case with the smaller states and territories. These usually have long trips involving heavy transportation charges and considerable pay for the mem-bers of the team while on duty coming and going. An officer in the Arizona National guard receives the same as an officer of similar rank in the New York National guard while on duty, so that the team expenses for the smaller states are as high as those for the larger states although the amount of money received from the national government is very much less.
The result has been that where a small state sends a team to the tournament each year it finds itself with little left for rifle practice at home.
These states and territories are anxious to apply a certain amount of the federal appropriation to the construction and equipment of state ranges and for rifle practice among the members of the guard at home. It is also felt that if the matches were held every two years there would be greater novelty and more interest taken in them.
The army has adopted a two year system of annual matches partly on account of the fact that the army maneuvers and individual camps of instruction are held in alternate years. Preparations for the national matches and attendance thereon consume considerable time on the part of the members of the teams and practically eliminates them from par-ticipation in the maneuver. For the last two years the army has supplied the officers and men for the Camp
Perry range during the National Rifle Association matches as well as

LOGIC ABOUT THE SKIN

There was a time when the family doctor was consulted for every ailment.
Nowadays there are specialists in every branch of the medical profession. A chemist, who had made a study of skin troubles, and was convinced that the old method of taking internal medicines was wrong, discovered that an extract from a particular part of a certain tree possessed properties that he truly called wonderful.
People who have suffered for years can now take fresh courage, because Cudum is entirely different from anything else. It gives immediate relief in all skin troubles. 10c and 25c.during the national matches. As this involves the services of more than one hundred officers and over one thousand experienced men it seriously handicaps the training of the national guardsmen by the regular officers during the maneuver years.
It also accentuates the serious shortage of regular army officers. If however the national matches required the services of two or three as many officers and enlistment from the regular army, to conduct them, their value as a military feature to the country would be well worth the expenditure.
By next year the government of the United States will possess a rifle range of sufficient size and equipment to take care of the national matches. It is constructing a new range near Sparta, Wisconsin, in connection with the artillery range there and on this range a national match can be accommodated. It is doubtful, however, whether the National Rifle Association matches could be shot there as there will probably be only one bank of targets, fifty in number, so that only one stage of one match could be shot at a time. At Camp Perry with its equipment of more than two hundred targets it is possible to shoot several matches simultaneously.The national guard is not partial to the idea of going to Sparta, which is not accessible to civilization. New York expects to have its range completed by 1912 and if it invites the tournament it will be a formidable bidder.

Held Their Annual Concert and Ball Last Night

Probably the most successful concert and ball held in this city during the present season took place last night at the Lowell division, No. 280, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America. Despite the inclement weather the friends of the men on the front and rear of the cars turned out in large numbers and they were well repaid for their trouble, for the evening proved to be a most enjoyable one.

Shortly after eight o'clock the first number on the concert program, the overture, entitled "Marines' Inspection" was given after which a vocal selection was rendered by John S. Moir. Chas. S. Sturtevant gave a trombone solo and received much applause. Messrs. James McNally and Frank McCarlin also gave vocal selections.

The interior of the hall was decorated in a very artistic and attractive manner, the front of the stage being adorned with pink and green bunting, with the lower border covered with green and white bunting. There were many potted plants and ferns in evidence, behind which was seated the orchestra.

The front of the gallery was covered with streamers of green and white while from the centre descended to the side streamers of pink and white. The windows and gallery posts were also adorned with bunting of the prevailing hues.

At the close of the dancing special cars awaited those who wished to go to the outside of the city.

The officers of the evening were: General manager, William E. Sproule; assistant general manager, Alfred Killoy; floor director, Edward J. Donnelly; chief aid, Robert Altken; assistant floor directors, William S. McKenzie; chief, George McWilliams, John J. Kelly, Henry Foley, John J. Fanning, Patrick Regan, Jerome Cullen, Fred-

OUTFITTERS TO MEN & BOYS

31-41 MERRIMACK STREET. FOR A BIG DOLLAR'S WORTH

Does this man look as if he were dying from heartburn and fermentation caused by indigestion—and had no appetite? Read what he says about it in his own words:

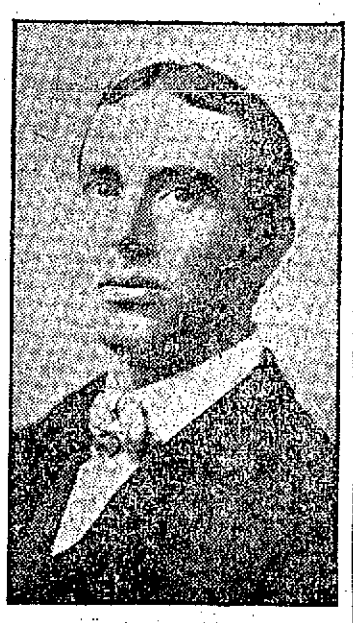

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Gentlemen: I used to be troubled with a weak heart, also indigestion, fermentation of food, heart burn, loss of appetite—most everything I ate distressed me. For a short time I obtained relief from doctors and from the medicines my friends advised me to take; then I would become just as sick again, until a Doctor prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I began to take your medicine and it did me a world of good. When I began taking your Malt Whiskey I weighed 150 lbs., now I weigh 178 lbs., and can eat anything without being distressed. I have sent many bottles to friends of mine in the country who were troubled with indigestion and who have been cured by its use. It has been several years since I found relief myself but I always keep Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my family for medicinal use.

J. FRANK KENT,
428 East 149th St., New York City.

Thousands of such cases are being cured every month. The genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by all druggists, grocers and dealers or direct, $1.00 a large bottle.

THEFT OF $1400

Charged Against Heir to $500,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Peter C. McMartin, 22, of Boaman, Ia., a farmer, who inherited $500,000 of his father's $1,000,000 estate, was arrested in the Grand Central station when he arrived from Chicago where he had been married the day before. He now awaits extradition on a charge of theft of $1400, while his bride is weeping in her room in the Hotel Knickerbocker.

William K. Adolph, 21, an automobile salesman of Des Moines, Ia., who with his wife came with the McMartins, was arrested on a similar charge. His wife is in the Knickerbocker with Mrs. McMartin.

The two men were arrested on a telegram from E. E. Johnson, chief of detectives in Des Moines. The telegram merely said the men were "wanted" for the theft of $1400.

ZUCCA ARRESTED

He is Charged With Customs Fraud

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The first of several arrests which the government has ordered in connection with what it alleges to be wholesale frauds in the underweighing of cheese importations, was made yesterday afternoon when Antonio Zucca, one of the most influential Italian politicians of the city, and prominent in the Tammany hall organization, was taken into custody by United States Marshal Houlton. He was charged in the indictment recently found against him with giving false weights on cheese imported from Italy. Mr. Zucca is the head of Zucca & Co., one of the largest cheese importers in the country. Mr. Zucca furnished $5000 bail for his appearance for examination Wednesday next.

HE TRIED SUICIDE

Man Shot Himself in Wife's Presence

AYER, Nov. 4.—Alfred E. Manzor, 55 years old, married, who lives in East Main street in this town, shot himself twice with suicidal intent last evening. Chief of Police Beatty was notified and removed Manzor to the

Groton hospital in an automobile after the injured man had been attended by Dr. B. H. Hopkins. Manzor came here from Maine, where all his relatives live. He has lived in this town a long time and was employed in a factory. Recently the business changed hands and Manzor has been worrying about his position. He greatly feared losing his job at the approach of the winter, and this worry preyed upon his mind so much that it is thought he became temporarily affected mentally. Manzor was in the kitchen of his home last evening with his wife when he suddenly took a 32-caliber revolver from a pocket and fired one bullet into his head. The next instant he fired a second shot, which he directed at his heart. The bullet entered the body but missed the heart. Mrs. Manzor screamed for help and attempted to prevent her husband from firing the second shot, but without success. Neighbors, hearing her screams, rushed into the house and found Manzor unconscious upon the floor. His chances for recovery are very slight. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

LOWELL HIGH WILL PRESENT STRONG LINEUP TOMORROW

A large crowd should be out to see Lowell High play Roxbury High at Washington park tomorrow afternoon. Although the high school team has only two games in the win column, yet they have lined up against some of the best teams in the state and have made a creditable showing. The first game was won in easy fashion by a score of 32 to 0. The next game, played at Nashua, was a game of trying out new plays, and the result was a 10 to 0. On Columbus day the Lowell team defeated South Boston 14 to 0. In the following Saturday, Lowell met English High in an exciting contest, mainly through the ringer. On Oct. 29, Lowell High played Lawrence Academy, a team composed of much heavier and older players, and were beaten 12 to 0. On Oct. 30 the team traveled to Malden and held that team, a team that is considered by many coaches the best in the state, to a 12 to 0 score. Malden has a record of nine victories, including a win against Somerville. Coach Cuddy of the Lowell team said after the game that no team that Malden has lined up against this year worked the forward pass so well as the Lowell team. He also complimented the Lowell boys upon the spirit and spirit with which they carried out the game. At the beginning of the year, the front line was very weak, but Coach Mahoney has strengthened that so that with the Haverhill game, the big game of the year, only two weeks away, the team is nearly at top form. The game began at three o'clock sharp. The probable lineup for Lowell: Carter, Bailey and Trull, ends; Rostler, Spalding and Clark, tackles; Kew, Edgar and Hazeltine, guards; Hogan, center; Leggett, quarterback; Bowers and Cawley, left half; Bennett and Frazer, right half; Donovan, full back.

loused minstrel shows and while the women were "the whole show" there were plenty of men there to applaud the excellent manner in which the program was carried out. There were songs, some old and some new, parodies with a local tint and jokes galore. It was a big night and those in attendance were thoroughly satisfied with the entertainment and are in hopes that it will be repeated.

SUPT. WHITTET

Reports on the Condition of Trees

As a result of the accident on the South common on the afternoon of July 1, Mayor Meehan sent a communication to the park commission requesting that body to make a thorough inspection of the trees within the streets of the city and in pursuance of this request the park commission instructed the superintendent of parks, Charles A. Whittet, to make a thorough inspection of the trees.

It was a long and tedious job, and one that could be attended to only at such times when nothing more important demanded the superintendent's attention. Mr. Whittet, however, succeeded in making a thorough inspection of the trees and presented his report to the commissioners at their meeting last night. The report is a very interesting and a very thorough one. There are 10,288 trees in the streets and parks of Lowell and of this number Mr. Whittet recommends that 708 be removed. He recommends that the sum of $10,000 be appropriated for the removal of dangerous trees and the preservation of other trees. He says that all decayed matter should be removed from cavities and that the trees should be treated with tar and creosote, cemented and covered with zinc. He recommends that insect life be killed and that the trees be bolted to prevent limbs from breaking off.

MINSTREL SHOW

GIVEN BY GIRLS OF THE BOOTH
MILLS

An excellent minstrel show was held last night under the auspices of the Working Girls' club of the Booth mills. There were several hundred employees present and the ladies presented a fine program. The club is a rather novel one, and is sanctioned by the mill officials in order to bring closer relations between the employer and employee, and also to form a bond of friendship and companionship among the employees.

A large room, known as the recreation room, in mill No. 6 is given up to the club and it was in that room that the entertainment was held last night. There was a small admission fee charged, but inasmuch as the proceeds of the affair are to go to the club there were several hundred tickets purchased.

The affair was one of those old-fashioned

ASSAULT CASES

And One for Illegal Keeping Heard in Police Court

A rather amusing alleged assault and battery case was heard before Judge Hadley in police court this morning. It being that of James S. MacGregor, charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Doris V. Roy. It was alleged that Mr. MacGregor assaulted the woman last Monday night at his boarding house in Lee street, but after the court had considered the evidence the defendant was found not guilty and discharged.

John J. McClure appeared for the complainant and the defendant was represented by Joseph E. Loughran. Mrs. Roy resides at 21 Kirk street and has worked at different times for Mr. MacGregor in the capacity of a waitress. According to her testimony, last Monday night she was given an order of ham to serve to one of the boarders, but the ham was so fat that she decided to substitute another piece of meat. When she went to reach for the meat Mr. MacGregor said "drop that ham" and she dropped it. He then grabbed her by the arm and ordered her to leave the place. She refused to go until she was paid, whereupon she claims the defendant threw her across the kitchen and struck her in the breast. She claimed that he struck her twice.

Marie Soule, an employee in the boarding house, said she saw the defendant grab the complainant by the arm and push her into the kitchen, but did not see him strike her.

William Sutherland, who lives at the defendant's house, after being called, said that he did not see any blows struck and as a result of questions asked admitted that he had told an officer that Mr. MacGregor had struck the woman, but admitted to the court that he had lied because at the time he made the statement he was "sore" on the defendant and "wanted to get back at him."

Mr. MacGregor said that the complainant got mad at something and after delivering an oration in the kitchen told him to go and serve his own boarders, that she was through. He said, however, while he was carrying a tray of dishes from the dining room to the kitchen the complainant was in the way and he asked her to move aside. She refused to do so and while he tried to pass into the kitchen his elbow brushed against her arm. He said that afterwards she "kicked up a noise in the dining room."

Andrew Burnside, a boarder in the house, corroborated the greater portion of the testimony offered by the defendant.

Little Johnny Curry, who is employed at Mr. MacGregor's boarding house, was the next witness. He is so small and his voice is so inaudible that Judge Hadley invited him to stand beside him while testifying. His testimony was to the effect that there was no trouble other than that caused by Mrs. Roy.

Mrs. Roy was called on rebuttal and said that the testimony offered by the defendant was a lie.

Judge Hadley, in summing up the evidence, said that the complainant would never have been brought but for the statement of Sutherland, who made a deliberate falsehood and then ordered Mr. MacGregor discharged.

Assault and Battery
Charles Tessier was charged with assault and battery on Thomas Bouillon Aug. 18, and he admitted his guilt. The complainant stated to the court that he was standing on the sidewalk on the date of the complaint, waiting for his wife, when the defendant walked up to him and gave him a "punch in the mouth." He said he did not care about pressing the matter as Tessier had been to see him. He admitted that both he and the defendant were under the influence of liquor when the assault took place.

Probation officer Slattery informed the court that Tessier was on probation on a complaint of neglect of wife and was ordered to pay $5 a week to his family, but after being placed on probation he left the city and did not appear in an appearance here until a few days ago.

Mrs. Tessier was called and she gave her version of the strange actions of the husband and as a result Tessier was ordered to pay a fine of $5 for assault.

Placed on Probation
Max Wells, who conducts a second hand clothing and shoe store in Middlesex street and who has come into prominence as a result of costs being stolen from outside his store, was the complainant in an assault and battery case. The defendant was John Shee and he was represented by James E. O'Donnell.

Wells claims that last Wednesday night while he was passing the corner of Thordike and Appleton streets there were six boys standing on the corner and one of them struck him over the head with a stick. He notified the police and later identified Shee as his assailant.

Isadore Rosenthal corroborated the testimony offered by the complainant. Patrolman Whalen testified to arresting the defendant and Patrolman Michael H. Winn and John H. Clark also testified relative to the arrest.

Shee admitted that he was standing on the corner where the assault took place and said he saw Wells struck over the head, but that he did not know the person who committed the assault. He was with several friends and after the assault walked through Thordike street. When he saw an officer approaching his friends ran away but he continued to walk along leisurely and was arrested.

Chelsea Conillard was with the defendant and said he saw the assault, but that Shee did not have anything to do with it. He admitted that he ran when he saw the officers approach but could give any reason for doing so.

Shee was placed in the custody of the probation officer.

Continued Till Tomorrow

He entered a plea of guilty and the nominal fine, $50, was imposed.

Heavy fines imposed

The building is fireproof with arrangements for the storing of Furniture, Pianos and in short everything but dynamite at very reasonable rent. A person would be very foolish to sell his household goods if he was going out of town, and let them go at a great sacrifice, when he can have them stored perfectly safe with us. Come up to Jackson street and talk it over with us; we can satisfy you in every way. One floor heated for automobiles.

LOST HIS LIFE

Man Was Crushed by a "Dummy" Elevator

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—His head and shoulders crushed between the ceiling of the third floor and a "dummy" elevator in which he was riding, Samuel L. Call, aged 25, living at 66 Leverett street, West End, received fatal injuries while working at 20 Fulton street late yesterday afternoon.

Employees who found him a few minutes after the accident, assisted in releasing Call from the position in which the small elevator had pinned him. His injuries were so severe that he died while being rushed to the Re- lief hospital. The young man, who was single, had been employed only a few weeks by the company as a jump- er.

While in the basement about 4 he had occasion to go to one of the upper floors. In violation of strict rules issued by the concern sometime previ- ously, Call crawled into a small lift used for carrying merchandise to and from the various floors. To enter the car he was obliged to exert consid- erable physical skill, for the little ele- vator is not of sufficient size to hold a person comfortably.

He apparently started the elevator upward, and when above the third floor, thrust his head and shoulders out. Whether he intended to alight at the third floor and was unable to stop the elevator, or had unconsciously put his head out of the open space and was caught underneath the ceiling be- fore he realized his danger, is not known.

The body was taken to the North Grove street morgue, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Magrath.

SEVEN-ROOM COTTAGE AND ABOUT 1495 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 19 ROGERS STREET, CORNER MERRILL STREET

As I have just purchased a house from Mr. Keyes on Inland street and am about to occupy the same, for this reason I have instructed him to ad- vertise and sell my cozy little home on the premises, regardless of any con- dition of the weather, on the day and hour advertised. The house, which consists of seven rooms, has on the first floor, parlor, dining-room, good sized kitchen and chamber, and three large airy and well lighted chambers on the second floor. It is lighted by gas, has best of sewerage, good closet room and is in first class shape inside and out. The lot has a good frontage on both Merrill and Rogers streets and the fact of it being a corner lot with 1495 square feet of land adds greatly to its value. This property is situated close to schools, churches and cars and is but a short distance to many large industries located in this section of the city, and for someone who is looking for a nice little home he should look this parcel up as it will be absolutely sold to whom- soever will bid the most for it on the day and hour stated above.

Terms: $200 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. Per order of NELLIE CLARK.

BURNED TO DEATH

Two Boys Perished and Another May Not Live

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 4.—Three small boys playing with matches today caused a fire that burned two of them to death and injured the third so se- verely that he is not expected to re- cover. The boys who lost their lives were Harry and Robert Wheeler, aged 3 and 9 years respectively and the boy who is believed to be at the point of death in the Springfield hospital is William Knox, 10 years old.

All of the little fellows lived in Grace street. Owing to a teachers' convention the public schools were closed today and the three boys were playing in the cellar of the Knox boy's house. There was a quantity of paper and excelsior there and when the lit- tle chaps started a fire the excelsior caught and fanned the cellar with flame. The first intimation of the accident was when neighbors saw the Knox boy run into the yard with his clothing in flames and smoke and fire were pour- ing out of the cellar windows.

ENGLISH WOMEN

Admire Work of Chicago Police

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Two English suffragettes who have taken part in demonstrations of women in London watched the Chicago police quell a disturbance yesterday and admitted that their methods were even more effective than those of the London "bobbies." The suffragettes were Misses Agnes Murphy and Alma Moore of London and they accompanied Miss Gertrude Barnum and Miss Edith A. Phelps to address a meeting of strik- ers at the Hebrew institute, West Div- ision street and Marion place, where the women were leaving the Hall their attention was attracted by a crowd of strikers a block distant in front of a tailoring establishment and hurried to the scene, arriving in time to see Po- liceman Olsen with a revolver in his left hand, leading a blow with his right on the jaw of a striker, which sent the man sprawling into the street.

"Such brutality!" said one of the suffragettes. Miss Barnum was not sure that the blow was not justified and she appealed to a bystander, who had seen the entire proceedings. She was told that the striker had repeated- ly been told to move on and that he practically defied the officer who struck him.

Jumping upon the curb, Miss Bar- num addressed the strikers.

"Don't antagonize the police," she said. "Many of them are your friends but they must do their duty. You must not use abusive language or disturb the peace in any way. I'm sure the police are really your friends if you do right."

"That's right," said Policeman Ol- sen. "I'm a union man myself, but no one is going to throw stones at that building while I am here. If that man had moved when I told him in- stead of 'sassing me,' I would not have struck him."

ARTHUR HEINZE RELEASED

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Arthur Heinze, the brother of Augustus Heinze, was released from the Tombs prison today after serving a ten days' sen- tence for contempt of court. The contempt consisted in advising a book- keeper of his brother's firm to leave town when the bookkeeper was wanted by the federal grand jury as a material witness in the investigation of the Heinze firm.

MAINTAINED GREAT SPEED

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 4.—Notwithstanding the fact that she encountered a fifty-mile gale throughout her trip and was buffeted about by heavy seas, the torpedo boat destroyer Roe proved her efficiency by main- taining an 18-knot speed on her trip from Washington to this port, arriving here today. The storm which swept up the Atlantic coast last night struck Newport early today and at 10 o'clock this morning this port was being swept by a 55-mile northeast gale.

The steamer Priscilla, New York for Newport and Fall River, was two hours late when she arrived here today. None of the local fishermen put out today and no schooners were sighted off the coast.
